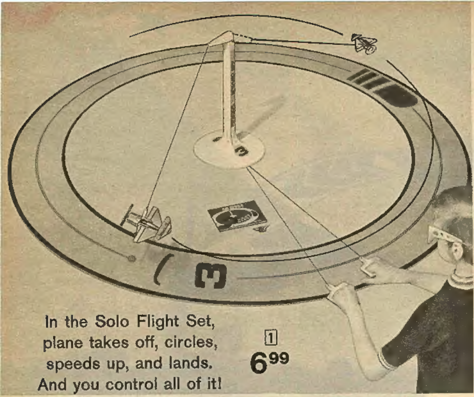
Engines full, throttle down, you're ready for take-off with AIR DEVILS



In the Solo Flight Set, plane takes off, circles, speeds up, and lands. And you control all of it!

[1] Solo Flight Set is Air Devils' basic set. Everything you need for your first airfield and flight. There's a plane called "Nomad," plus an engine, 22-in. high pylon and a 10-section circular cardboard runway that's 6½ ft. in diameter, 9 in. wide. One nylon cord controls Nomad's flying radius of 1½- to 3 ft. from pylon, and second cord controls power supply with on/off switch. Both cords run under runway. Plastic, metal and vinyl. Instructional flight book, goggles, and pilot wings included. Operates on 5 "D"-cell batteries (not incl.—order below).
X 923-6829 A—Ages 7 to adult. Mail. wt. 3 lbs... 6.99

[2] Night Flight Set comes with a real stunner of a plane—the sleek, black "Night Owl." 7x7-ft., printed polyethylene environment with lighted effect painted on has 6½-ft.-diameter cardboard runway. Engine, 4 service vehicles, 22-in.-high pylon, hangar, radar station, working runway light—all let you simulate nighttime airport scene. Plane takes off, circles, lands at your will. Pylon powers up on 5 "D"-cell batteries; runway light operates on 2 "D"-cell batteries (batteries not included—order below). Goggles, pilots' wings, instructional flight book. Manual nylon cord runs under runway. Plastic, metal and vinyl construction. Ages 7 to adult.
X 923-7025 A—Mail. wt. 5.50 lbs. 9.99

[3] Carrier Rendezvous Set. Pretend you're on the water! Wear the goggles that come with this set and catapult your plane, "Flag," from the aircraft carrier. Then try to bring her back down to a smooth tail-catch landing on the carrier deck. Carrier is a big 27 in. long and cruises in an "ocean" that's a 7 x 7 ft. vinyl and cardboard environment. Engine, 22-in.-high pylon, plus a laboratory pier, drag sled, pontoons, and fake clouds make for more mid-ocean excitement. Instructional flight book, goggles, pilot's wings completes the set. Pylon is powered by 5 "D"-cell batteries (batteries not included—order below). Hand control adjusts engine power, flies plane in a radius of 1½- to 3 ft. Plastic, metal and vinyl construction. Ages 7 to adult.
X 923-6969 A—Mail. wt. 8 lbs. 13.99

[4] Danger Mountain Set. This is it—the big one! Two planes, the "Vanguard Jet" and "Apogee," can dive, swoop, do all sorts of tricks—and you're the pilot! Pylon hooks into its own electric transformer for extra speed and power boost. Can also power up on 5 "D"-cell batteries (not included—order below). Planes fly in a radius of 1½ to 3 ft. Also included are a hangar, engine, electric transformer console with simulated control panel and control stick to vary plane speed and flying radius, and a drag chute glider that the Air Devils swoop down and pick up. Plus an environmental vinyl and cardboard runway 7x7 ft. that depicts mountains, gulleys, etc. Extra "mountains," "clouds," included. Plastic, metal and vinyl. 110–120 volts, AC. UL listed. Ages 8 to adult.
X 923-6928 A—Mail. wt. 7.50 lbs. 19.99

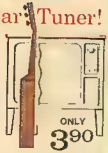
ALL NEW Guitar Tuner!

A new concept in guitar tuning!



Just place tuner under 2nd fret, turn on TV, pluck each string and "see" the pitch visually

ONLY 3^{90}

The new visual way to tune your guitar! No need to have perfect pitch . . . just good eyes! It's simple—just place tuner under 2nd fret, then turn on your TV set. Now pluck each string individually; watch the string image with TV set in background. As the pattern becomes more clear and centered as you tune, the nearer you are to perfect pitch. Repeat this for all the strings . . . then you're ready for any jam session . . . have fun!

Package size: 8½x4½x3½ in.

segment SHIFT

Segment shift, usually found on more expensive portables, means that when you press the shift key, the entire type unit moves into position for typing capitals and symbols—on most other portables the whole carriage moves up and down. The advantage? Level lines even after years of use!

1 Our escort 33 combines economy with performance in a sturdy compact. 1, 1½ and 2-line spacing plus horizontal ½-space key for correcting errors. Choice of Pica or Elite type. 86-character keyboard in green and off-white high-impact plastic housing; 9¾-in. carriage. Vinyl travel case incl. From Spain. Ship. wt. 15 lbs.

2 The perfect Christmas gift for the entire family! Our escort 66 is a bigger, heavier full-size portable that performs with equal efficiency in the home, at school or in the office. Three type styles include Pica, Elite and the more personal Script for making correspondence fun. Its impressive list of features include a paragraph indentation key on the 86-character keyboard, full-length tabulator on 9¾-inch carriage and touch control to individualize the machine to every family member's touch. 1, 1½ and 2-line spacing plus variable roller; horizontal ½-space correction key. Paper bail, paper support, line-drawing aperture. 2-color ribbon, stencil cutter. Segment shift for years of fine typing quality. Sturdy luggage-type carrying case. From Spain. Ship. wt. 21 lbs.

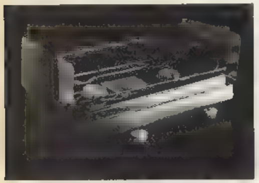
WHAT'S NEW

by Joseph Gribbins

QUICK-START STOVE



According to Bass Products, which imports it from Sweden, this new alcohol stove requires neither priming nor pumping and will not flare up. Instead, it lights instantly and burns for 2¾ to 8 hours on a quart of fuel, depending upon the setting. Construction is stainless steel with brass fuel tanks; dimensions are 18" long, 9" deep and 4" high. The postpaid price is $84, with gimbals as shown an additional $13.50.

DIMINUTIVE DIESEL

The new Model DS diesel from Westerbeke is described as "the smallest, lightest watercooled marine diesel in the world." The 187-pound package—a one-cylinder, four-cycle engine rated for 5 hp and fitted with 2:1 reduction gear—measures 17¾" high, 17" wide and about 25" long. The head and block are aluminum, with cast-iron cylinders, counterbalanced steel crankshaft, aluminum pistons and forged steel connecting rods. A heavy flywheel combined with balanced parts and a soft mounting system, says Westerbeke, makes the little engine run smooth and vibration-free. The price is $1375.

MOTOROLA'S MODAR VHF

Modar Electronics, Inc., a division of Motorola, has a new VHF FM radiotelephone built in a 10-watt version with 6 or 12 channels and in a 25-watt version with 6 or 12 transceive channels and provision for reception of VHF weather broadcasts. In a compact, weatherproof case with shielded speaker magnet to protect compass accuracy, the Triton radiotelephone has solid-state circuitry, automatic reverting to distress channel 16 after each call, and protection against reversed polarity and antenna damage. Prices, with universal mounting systems and provisions for remote control, range from $369.95 to $544.95

IMPROVED BENMAR AUTOPILOT

The latest version of Benmar's Model 14 automatic pilot has power steering and dodging as standard equipment, new solid-state circuitry in sensing and control units, and identical helm controls for the three DC voltages available—12, 24 and 32. The non-hunting Model 14B Autopilot conserves power by switching on only when correcting course. Power consumption is 50 watts on course, 160 watts off course; minimum sensitivity is ±3°; torque output is 200"/lbs. at 32 rpm and 600"/lbs. stalled. Price is $825.

It may look like Paradise to you, but it's hell for marlin. Because Bart Miller is back in Kona with a new Bertram.

You've read about him. Hawaii's "Black Bart." The only captain in the Pacific who's brought in a hundred marlin in a year. Here's why he thinks he's going to beat his own record.

"For two months I shopped every boat on the Pacific Coast. You name it, I put a microscope on it. There's just nothing in the same league as this Bertram 38."

"Out here, something breaks down, you fix it yourself. I can't afford much of that. But you come down off a twelve foot wave in the Molokai Channel in that Bertram and nothing rattles. Take some other boat out in that stuff and you'd spend two days screwing it back together."

"Sure, something will go wrong someday. It's a machine, isn't it? But this 38' is the only boat its size where there's really room to work on the engines. Everything's easy to get at. And there's not a cheap part on her."

"Another thing. The wake that rolls off this hull is beautiful. Perfect. I can make even dead fish or lures dance a tamuré on it. First time out, just checking the engines, we brought in a 733-pound blue."

We could write six ads from Bart's unpaid testimonials. Or write him yourself. Box 692, Kailua Kona, Hawaii 96740. You won't get any baloney from the "Patton of the Pacific." But he might forget to mention the sort of thing your wife will love about the 38'. Like the handsome, huge deckhouse with the galley up where it ought to be. Or the sculpted-in, stretch-out settee on the bridge.

Whoever you talk to about a Bertram, any size from 25' up to 46', you'll find out one thing. They work. They hold together and run better longer and give you more back for your buck at resale.

The proof? Just ask the guys out in the boondocks of the world, where there aren't a lot of places to have a boat patched up every time it gets temperamental.

Then go see your Bertram dealer. You won't have to search the boondocks to find him, and he can help you find your own piece of Paradise.

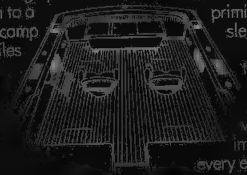
When you want to know which boats hold together and which ones fall apart, ask the guys in the boondocks.

That white blob in the middle of the Dominican jungle is a Bertram.

It's not unique. Just one of the Bertrams you might stumble across in a hundred outposts from Moorea to the Congo, from the icefloes off Alaska to blistering oil ports in Arabia.

Out where help is a couple of hundred miles away, a boat has to work. Day in. Day out. That's why the Bertrams are there. But not many of the prima donnas that pass for boats in the U.S.

The Bertram in the photo usually chases gamefish in the rips between Saona and Boca de Yuma. But this day its job was to chug up the mucky Chavon to a fishing camp sixty miles from Santo Domingo. Which is still 180 miles from anything like your boatyard back home. No place for paper tigers.



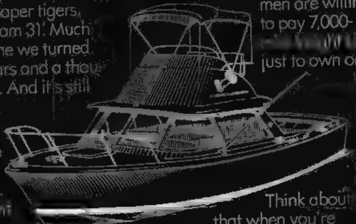
It's a Bertram 31'. Much like the first one we turned out eleven years and a thousand 31's ago. And it's still back-ordered.

One of the reasons is the staggering cockpit space. [illegible] a huge bait box, put in two fighting chairs, and still have roo[illegible] mate to race around without bowling you over.

Another reason is pure beauty. There's no port in the world where even the most primitive won't admire her sleek silhouette.

But the big reason is they work. The meaty deep-V fiberglass hull soaks up shock. The wiring is very heavy-duty, immaculately tiewrapped every eight inches so nothing snags. The hardware is husky. And bolted so solidly that one Bertram, caught dockside in a tornado, ripped a 16-foot piling it was tied to right out of Biscayne Bay. The cleat held. The piling couldn't.

And even if something goes wrong with the engines, you can't find engines easier to get at than on our 31'.



Every Bertram, from 25' to 46', is built extraordinarily tough but oh-so-gentle-riding. Some men are willing to pay 7,000- [illegible] just to own one.

Think about that when you're trying to decide which boat will run better and last longer and cost you less to own.

It's a Bertram.

The proof? Out in the boondocks, where men don't eat if the boats don't work, Bertram is bigger than anyone.

Go see a Bertram dealer. You won't have to search the boondocks to find one.

The new fiberglass Concorde 41′ Double Cabin Flying Bridge Boat is a Cruising Yacht.

This magnificent yacht is designed specifically for the sophisticated boating family that wants a fast, comfortable and spacious cruising yacht with minimum maintenance and outstanding sea-keeping qualities in any weather.

She has almost 350 square feet of living space for cooking, dining, and lounging—and that doesn't include two big staterooms each with private head and stall showers

That's as much living space as many modest town houses!

We did it by structuring to eliminate interior bulkheads. We finished the interior with washable stain proof vinyls and laminates to practically eliminate interior cleaning problems.

For color literature on our fourteen models (27′ through 54′) enclose $1.00. Concorde Yachts, Inc., 8100 Stansbury Road, Baltimore, Maryland 21222 even a "damp chaser" in one of the storage lockers for keeping crackers crisp. (The dinette converts into a double berth.)

Concorde

There's a 220-volt four-burner range with a large eye-level oven and a home-size dishwasher underneath. (Beneath the galley floor there's a separate generator room with a 15-kw standard.)

❺ Bow stateroom. With comfort built in.

Here are ideal quarters for guests, kids or crew—upper and lower berth, all kinds of storage space, shower and head plus room left over for the optional washer-dryer.

❻ Engine rooms. With room.

The most convenient engine rooms you'll find in any boat her size. A passageway between the compartments allows for walk-in access to both engines; makes check-outs and maintenance a breeze. Choose between twin GM 8V-71N's, GM 8V-71T or Cummins 370 diesels.

❼ Guest stateroom. Tasteful and comfortable.

We know you want your guests to feel welcome and comfortable and it shows: the guest stateroom has custom draperies, twin berths, carpeting, stereo and loads of storage space, including 10 drawers and a full-length clothes locker.

❽ Guest head/shower/master head. Complete privacy.

Your guests enjoy a private head and so do you. The guest and master heads are separated by a stall shower with built-in seat. Shower doors open to each head.

Both heads have large mirrors, vitreous china lavs and plenty of linen storage. And for the girls, there's a pull-out clothesline for drying hand-washables.

Now, before we go into the master stateroom, stop a minute and rub your hand over the Mozambique natural wood paneling and doors. Feels like fine furniture, doesn't it? That's because it's carefully hand-finished by the proud craftsmen of North Carolina, the furniture capital.

❾ Master stateroom. Luxurious.

And with all the comforts. From stereo, individual air conditioning control and generous drawer space (17 of them) to a home-size lighted closet with bi-fold doors. Oversize twin beds—or a queen-size double bed is also available. Just beautiful.

Let's go topside.

That was just a hint of what it's like aboard the Hatteras 53. To really get the feel of Hatteras Yacht, you have to ride in one. You'll see what owners mean when they say, "She's beautiful at sea." And you'll appreciate the fact that we test every new model in the treacherous waters off Cape Hatteras, "Graveyard of the Atlantic."

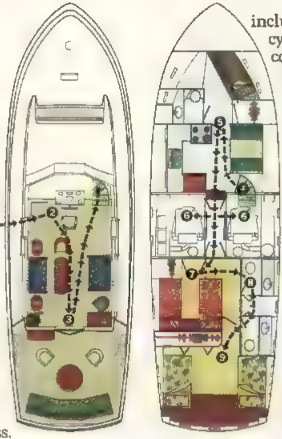
Hatteras welcomes you to a 5-minute tour of the 53 Motor Yacht.

(Warning: you may want to leave home.)



① Welcome aboard.
For the next 5 minutes, everything you see and touch will tell you you're aboard a special kind of boat—built with a special love for boating.

The Hatteras 53 Motor Yacht.

The full-length handrails and boarding gate are teakwood. Underfoot, there's the solid feel of fiberglass.

Let's go inside.

② Take the helm. Full instrumentation.
Go ahead. Adjust the helmseat just the way you like it. There. Now, look around. Aircraft-type chart lights. Hydraulic steering. A lighted five-inch binnacle compass. The whole control panel is hinged for easy access. Convenient AC & DC circuit breaker electrical panels close by.

The view? Commanding.

Swing around and look aft.

③ Salon and aft deck. Spacious.
Here's all the space you'll ever want for gracious entertaining. All the comforts, too, including reverse cycle air conditioning, AM/FM radio and 8-track stereo, carpeting and fully lined custom draperies. Your choice from a wide selection. All standard.

Let's go through the double doors (hand-finished in solid teak) to the aft deck.

To port, there's a wet bar with beverage storage and automatic icemaker. Standard, of course.

You'll find storage space for lines, hoses and fenders underneath the cushioned aft deck seat.

The teak-tread ladder on the starboard side leads through a hatch up to the flying bridge. (Optional)

Wing doors on the side decks protect guests from blowing spray or inclement weather.

Let's go down the curved staircase (see floorplan) to the galley.

④ Galley. All the conveniences.
Just add food and hungry boaters. Features include: large side-by-side refrigerator-freezer with automatic icemaker, double stainless steel sink with disposer, food blender and Next billfish tournament, count the Hatteras machines.

Montauk. Cat Cay. Palm Beach. In tournament after tournament, more Hatteras boats are entered than any other make.

Why Hatteras? As one skipper put it, "... Hatteras is the boat to have for all the reasons you want a fishing boat..."

Take our 53 Convertible.

It gives you plenty of room for fishing and entertaining (more about that later on) without sacrificing maneuverability and speed.

"She's beautiful at sea."

She is highly responsive—nimble even in rough waters. And she has all the performance you need to run with the biggest tuna you'll ever hook onto.

Tested off Cape Hatteras.

Like every other Hatteras design, we tested the 53C in the treacherous waters off Cape Hatteras. (Good to know, especially if you're ten miles out and a storm kicks up.)

Fiberglass. Strong. Smooth.

The fiberglass construction enables us to give the one-piece hull a sea-kindly shape. It drastically reduces pounding, yawing and broaching.

Fish have fins. You get trim tabs.

See that little fin behind the marlin's gill. It's called the pectoral fin. It gives fish extra maneuverability. Well, we give you extra maneuverability, too. Trim tabs. They're standard on all Hatteras Yachts. And in our Hatteras convertibles they're tucked under the hull, out of the way of lines.

The flying bridge.

Perfect. And spacious. With all the fittings and controls designed for all-out sportfishing. Positive Hydraulic steering. Convenient areas for electronic equipment. Good visibility fore and aft.

Cockpit—room for 3 chairs, no waiting.

The cockpit is 13 ft. 3 in. wide by 11 ft. 2 in. So there's plenty of room for two sailfish chairs plus a fighting chair. And there's a lot of room left over for working, too. (You call this work?)

Underneath, there's a live bait well and a lazaret with plenty of storage space. Cockpit controls are standard on the 53C.

It's for her, too.

Just as it's an all-out sportfisherman by day, it's an all-out luxury yacht at night. Your wife can custom decorate with a wide choice of draperies and carpeting. There's stereo, tinted glass and air conditioning with reverse cycle heating throughout. All standard.

Two floor plans.
Choose the plan with three staterooms and three heads. It has the galley in the salon. Or if you'd like, choose the alternate plan with two staterooms, two heads and a galley-dinette below. Either way, you get all the luxury you'd expect from a Hatteras Yacht.

Hatteras pride. And love.
Interiors are hand-finished, hand-fitted by the proud craftsmen of North Carolina, the furniture capital. Quality throughout. And it shows, in every detail.

Hatteras resale value.
When you buy a Hatteras, you get a classic. There are no yearly model changes. No planned obsolescence. Improvements are continuous—we don't wait till next year.

And with a Hatteras, you have less upkeep. The one-piece seamless fiberglass hull means up to 80% less maintenance. You can forget about rust, dry rot, loose fittings or marine borers.

Next time out, count the Hatteras machines. Better yet, check the first one back with the big catch. Chances are, it'll be a Hatteras, too. Happy fishing.

Advanced engineering put our V-4s where they are today.

100 Johnson
85 Johnson

When you have a long lead like Johnson, you must be doing something right

Boating fans who own our V-4 outboards say we're doing lots of things right

Like including features and engineering innovations perfected by thousands of tough hours in endurance races and marathons.

Exhaust tuning. CD ignition. Pressure-back piston rings. And so on.

All that came from racing

And it means more enjoyable and economical boating for you

Now let's chat a bit about some of the features and innovations in Johnson's biggest engines: 125, 100 and 85 hp.

We'll try not to bore you.

But we will try to sell you.

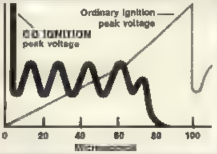
Because we feel these Johnson Vs offer more dependability and value than any comparable horsepower outboards you can buy.

So think of this ad as a short course in engineering, Johnson-style If you like what you read, head right for your Johnson dealer

If necessary, he can tell you even more

CD ignition, on every Johnson V, is for sure, fast starts.

Let's look at the capacitor discharge system on our V-125 and V-100. It delivers the firing voltage to each spark plug in three millionths of a second. Since the voltage doesn't have much time to "leak" off from its peak charge, the spark is far hotter, far faster than conventional ignitions.

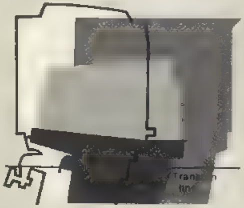


You get quicker starts. Smoother idling, trolling and running And much longer spark plug life There are far-fewer parts so there's little or no maintenance. No belts. No condenser or points to change, ever

The CD system on our 85 includes points, but it's just as effective.

Exhaust tuning quietly gives you more power on less fuel.

This is not just talk. It's fact Because we use the energy of exhaust sound waves to more completely pull the exhaust gases out of each cylinder and to pack in more of the new fuel charge entering the cylinder. The fuel-air mixture is cleaner, more powerful. And the exhaust sound silently exits underwater through the prop hub.



Johnson Vs are built compact. They look like they were put on a diet.

Good engineering let us build our V-4s compact. Besides the tuned exhaust and CD ignitions, many other design features let us keep things short and sweet. Like straight-in fuel induction paths. An efficient cooling system. And a short, rigid crankshaft which reduces torsional vibration and friction.

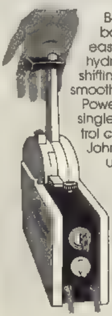
What good's a compact outboard? Glad you asked. It's for fishing and pulling skiers over And even for gloating over Especially when you compare it to some other outboards we know that are six inches taller over the transom than ours.

Our unique piston rings result in less friction and engine wear.

The pressure-back piston rings on the 125 hp are so different we've applied for a patent. They help seal the combustion chamber by using compression to force the ring against the cylinder wall.

Since only two rings are needed per cylinder, friction and wear are reduced, fuel economy is improved

Johnson's power shifting is up to 30 per cent easier than manual systems.



Because we think boating should be easy, we made our hydraulic-electric power shifting effortless And smooth.

Power shifting and a single-lever remote control come with every Johnson V. The remote unit incorporates a key switch, choke throttle, engine overheat buzzer and an exclusive safety lock button to keep you from moving the shift lever from neutral to forward or reverse when you don't mean to.

How we help keep the wet clean.

We're interested in clean water Because our business runs on it So every '72 Johnson is drainless, which means gas and oil can't get into the water from overboard drains.

There's more to Johnson's 125, 100 and 85 than the features you just read about. Like the best corrosion protection in the business. A thermostatically controlled cooling system. Fresh 50th anniversary styling he super cruiser . . . and we'll prove it!

Laguna
10 metre

The first thing your American Marine dealer will tell you about the Laguna 10 Metre is that she's fast. You'll have a lot more fun if you don't take his word for it. Then he'll have to prove it!

But be prepared for more surprises than just her fantastic cruising speed. Be ready for a whole new experience – like comfort with that speed; maneuverability; stability.

The Laguna 10 Metre's "Wide Y" hull with its non-symmetrical planing strips, directional stabilizer-keel, wider than usual beam, and heavy 17,000 lb. displacement, provides a stable, maneuverable, comfortable ride at any speed. A ride you won't believe until you experience it.

And remember–you're getting this speed from diesels. Twin 637 cubic inch, turbocharged diesel V8's. Rapid torque diesels. Now you can have more performance than you've ever dreamed of, and all the proven dependability, durability and economy of diesel power.

Be sure and bring your wife. She's going to love the luxurious accommodations, and posh decor. And she'll like going fast in comfort, too.

The Laguna 10 Metre. Tomorrow's cruiser – available now. The super cruiser. But make us prove it!

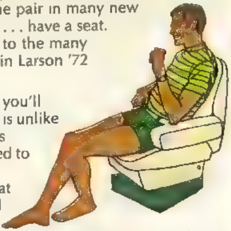
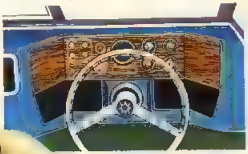
All boats are not created equal.

Sit down and think about it.

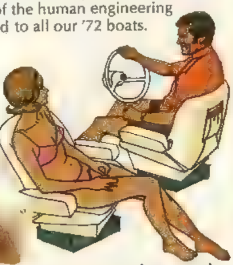
We'll make you comfortable. Your Larson dealer has this superb seat waiting for you on his showroom floor. It's the seat you'll find by the pair in many new Larsons this year. Please . . . have a seat. And give some thought to the many exceptional differences in Larson '72 that spell extra value.



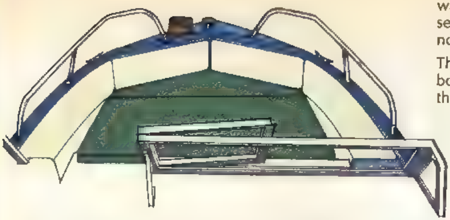
As soon as you sit down you'll know this new boat seat is unlike any other. The bottom is contoured and cushioned to fit yours. The back too. The armrests do just what their name implies. And when you lift the levers concealed under them, the back reclines. Now sit up and swing your body around so you can talk comfortably to your mate. The contoured seat swings with you. All the way. Yet you're still within comfortable reach of the wheel and all other controls.



The 18 ft. Shark Stern Drive model has a wraparound instrument panel. Like the seat, it's the result of the human engineering we applied to all our '72 boats.



Notice, for example, that when your mate turns all the way around to talk to people in the stern or watch a skier, you and she can still see and talk to each other with ease.

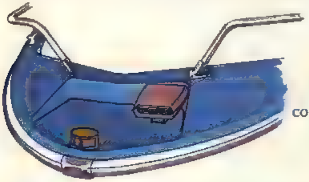


Reach up now to the top of the windshield frame and pull yourself up. Sturdy, isn't it. If you've tried that in other boats, you'll appreciate the difference.

Notice something unusual about this Larson Shark's forward people space?

It's all flat and cushioned. You can stretch out in any direction. Or you can stow one section of cushions to convert the forward area to conventional seating. And there's a well for stowage or ice under the middle cushion. The new left side walk-thru makes it easy to get to the forward deck without disturbing the driver.

And a very functional but unobtrusive bow light that has the big advantage of providing more step area for beach boarding. (Speaking of lights, every '72 Larson has an interior courtesy light, all Stern Drives have an engine box light.)

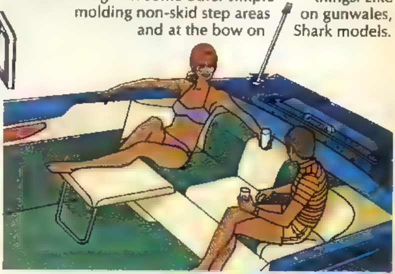


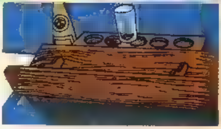
Now if you'll sit down and swing 180 degrees, you'll notice something new in the stern.

People like to sit diagonally, with an arm on the gunwale. So the stern seat backrest is curved to fit. By the way, the tables double as footrests for forward or stern seats. They stow neatly on the side panels when they're not in use.

There's even a locking beverage bar to hold glasses and bottles secure. Makes you wonder why someone didn't think of it before.

We've thought of some other simple things. Like molding non-skid step areas on gunwales, and at the bow on Shark models.





There are many more innovations your Larson dealer would like to show you. All in the category of "value added by engineering for people." We've made some improvements in our hull designs too. They're things you feel rather than see. And we're still using our patented Life/Guard construction—the strongest, safest kind you can buy.

During Larson's 58 years of boatbuilding, more people have bought Larson than any other brand of runabout. This year's innovations are new additions to the value that's been so traditional.

Larson's differences make boating more fun and give you more value for your boating dollar. Your Larson dealer hopes you'll make your own comparison.

NASBLA MEETS AT TAMPA

Operator licensing main issue of eleventh annual meeting of the National Association of State Boating Law Administrators

The renewed possibility of nationwide licensing of pleasure boat operators was the main issue under discussion at the eleventh annual meeting of NASBLA held November 16-17 in Tampa, Florida.

Representatives from the boating administrations of 38 states and Puerto Rico were on hand as were men from the TVA, the Corps of Army Engineers, the American Red Cross, the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers, the National Boating Federation, and the USCG Aux

Also present in force was the United States Coast Guard. In addition to the Commandant, Admiral Bender—the chief speaker at the closing banquet—and representatives from the Second, Third, Seventh, and Eight Districts, there was a very strong contingent from Washington's Office of Boating Safety, headed by Rear Admiral Wagner and supported by five captains. They were on deck to present their plans for the implementation of the Boat Safety Act of 1971, plans which, according to advanced billing, were presumed to include a pronouncement in favor of operator licensing

The licensing discussion—which will be reported in depth in the February Motor Boating & Sailing—in fact created less excitement than anticipated, primarily because the Coast Guard's thoughts on licensing were only that: thoughts. For instance, they are thinking about mandatory boating education. but the idea is still strictly in the exploratory stage.

In other areas, the Coast Guard spoke of: the Auxiliary—it can now operate on state waters; Education—new, far-reaching programs are in the works; Numbering—all boats must now be numbered and a variety of pre-conditions to registration (such as title, taxes, fees, and the correct pollution control devices) are being explored; the Implementation of Section 13 of the Boat Safety Act—this section gives boarding officers the right to terminate a boating trip and order the boat back to a safe mooring if there is a condition on board which creates as undue hazard. The Act, as written, specifies lack of life jackets, lack of fire extinguishers, or too many people on board as three such conditions. Others may be spelled out later, extending beyond the boat and her physical state to the condition and/or ability of the boatman or to weather and sea conditions. How this Section is implemented and expanded will bear close attention.

In addition to the Coast Guard presentation, the assembled administrators heard from:

- The Marine Exhaust Research Council, which told of its grant from the EPA, destined to develop hard data about outboard motor pollution. Additional information in this area was presented by Joe Swift of the Mercury Marine Division of Brunswick.
- The Regional Boating Law Administrator groups, which could not agree on whether or not ATV's (All Terrain Vehicles) and snowmobiles should be handled by boating administrators.

At the close of the session, sixteen resolutions were passed including, to no one's surprise, a renewed stand against licensing. ⚓

Come alongside.

MOBY DICK

Moby Dick can lay on you anti-cold clothes, anti-wet clothes, and anti-drowning clothes. Their iso-thermal suit is a patented fabric of polyurethane foam on nylon, permeable to moisture vapor so that it "breathes" away moisture, but impermeable to droplets so that water doesn't get in. Foul weather gear comes in one or two-piece suits, hooded, with chest-high or waist-high pants. Flotation jackets have their buoyant compartments in front to assure face-up floating. For copy of Moby Dick Brochure, write.

Imperex Corp., 675 Brannan St., San Francisco, Calif. 94107

GENERAL THERMETICS

GT's new low cost Titan 110 inverter, with low current draw, will provide power to refrigerators and small appliances while the boat is underway. The solid state device, with no moving parts, converts battery juice to 115-volt a.c. housepower, and is said to be 9 percent efficient. Constant rating is 50 watts, and it can handle 1000, watt surge loads. Input range is 11 to 145 volts d.c. from a battery, and output frequency deviation is less than plus-minus two cycles.

General Thermetics, Inc., 11 Brookdale Pl., Mt. Vernon, N.Y. 10550

BOAT LEVELER

Rocker type switches are now used on the Insta-Trim electric hydraulic boat levelers. According to the manufacturer, these switches are superior in that they eliminate arc commonly created inside standard switches. The new switches are safer, and assure immediate response of the transom mounted levelers. Specifically engineered for Boat Leveler by Micro Switch Division of Honeywell, the finger controls are marked "Port-Starboard," and "Bow Up-Bow Down."

SEABOARD MARINE SUPPLY

Sailboat hardware comprises the line, with the accent on blocks. Heavy duty stainless steel blocks with breaking strength of 4,500 pounds are made in three styles. And there is a complete line of light weight blocks with black cheeks and white sheaves of glass filled nylon.

It's a working day, with very important people for your Silver Shadow Long-Wheelbase Sedan to indulge. Impress. Perhaps, even intimidate. Now the Rolls waits, ready. Ready to put prestige to work. To do the job it does best, the job thirty generations have readied it for. Elegant, imposing, the essence of fine breeding, ready for the sure hand of the chauffeur, and the august presence of Client. Customer. Statesman. Royalty.

Now, within, privacy. Comfortable seclusion on wheels, designed for reaching agreements, making great plans, forging corporate destinies. Bountiful chair-height seats of supplest leather. Hand-rubbed Circassian walnut panels. Pockets of finest hide for vital documents. For each passenger, high-intensity reading lamps, should business persist into evening. Lamps overhead give soft illumination, others beneath the armrests aid getting in and out, and still others warn approaching drivers of the open door. Your Rolls is all quiet, all comfort, all private.

And competent. Now the great sedan shows its strongest suit; it excels, as did its forbears, in the businesslike way it gets you where you're going. Quickly. Silently. Without fuss. With incredibly refined musculature of engine and suspension, the Rolls smoothly sorts out traffic to the freeway, then skims over the miles to the next state, to arrive comfortably in time for your key appearance.

Elegant, impressive, uniquely comfortable, superbly competent. Rolls-Royce at work is unquestionably all business.

Inspected by a cast of thousands. Before it can leave our factory, every new VW has to face 1104 inspectors One 'no' from any inspector and it doesn't go until it's right

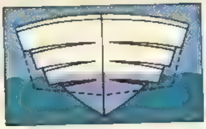
After we seal the top, we seal the bottom. The VW is so advanced, it has a sealed steel bottom To protect its insides against everything outside

The only car in the world with a longer warranty. Only one other car besides the VW considers itself advanced enough to offer a warranty that exceeds today's standard 12-month or 12,000-mile limits.* And its prices start at $25,200 while our price is only $1,999.

The 1972 Volkswagen Beetle is more than a simple, honest, dependable car.

It's a simple, honest, dependable car that's years ahead of its time.

More room than you think. As small as our car is outside, inside it has more than enough headroom and legroom for the average-size man Even when he's wearing a not so average-size hat



If you're thinking about buying a high-performance cruiser or a houseboat or even a yacht, you owe it to yourself to see the new Whitcraft 50, first.

This 50-foot boat represents a whole new concept in pleasure boating. There is nothing quite like it anywhere. At any price. Read why:

Cruiser hull. Smooth. Seaworthy.

It has a modified Deep-Vee hull that cuts the water like a cruiser. The hull was designed by Jim Wynne, famous racer and designer. (He also helped us build the 45-foot Whitcraft.)

The cruiser hull construction with its exceptional freeboard (56" forward, 48" aft) makes it a remarkable performer in all kinds of seas.

Cruiser speed.

The optional twin 330's produce speeds to almost 30 mph. Twin 280-hp engines are standard. Diesel power available too. Fresh water cooling and vee-drives are standard with all engines.

Fuel capacity, 240 gallons for gasoline engines; 344 for diesel options. Water, 100 gallons standard, additional 100 gallons optional.

Fiberglass. Less maintenance.

The entire hull and superstructure is of reinforced fiberglass, including the integrally-molded bottom stringer complex. This fiberglass construction means less upkeep, more fun.

Made by the makers of Hatteras Yachts

. North American Rockwell. That means you're assured of quality and experience in fiberglass that's unmatched in the boating industry.

Houseboat space.

Here's the real beauty of the new 50' it has living space exceeding cruisers and yachts of greater length. So there's plenty of room to entertain. Beautifully. (Fred Hudson designed the contemporary interiors and superstructure. Decor by Mary Reed.)

There are two different interior plans. One sleeps 8 comfortably with Announcing the revolutionary Whitcraft 50.

At top speeds,
you'll think you're on a cruiser.

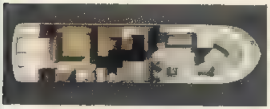
Flying bridge and aft hardtop, shown, are optional accessories

the single stateroom aft. This plan features 2 lavatories and 2 showers The other arrangement, as illustrated, sleeps 10 comfortably with the double stateroom aft, and has 3 lavatories and 2 showers. (As an option, you can get additional sleeping for two in either plan)



The all-electric galley features a 17-cu -ft. side-by-side freezer-refrigerator with icemaker, 3-burner range with oven and rotisserie Double stainless steel sink. Divider between galley and salon doubles as a unique serving bar

Other standard equipment includes impeccable teak paneling, deep, deep shag carpeting, luxurious draperies throughout Teak hand-rails on main deck, stainless steel rails on sundeck. Dockside wiring, life preservers, fire extinguishers, fog bell, hot and cold water pressure systems. Plus numerous other items

Houseboat price.

And here s the real surprise The Whitcraft 50 can be purchased for just a fraction of what you'd expect to pay for a cruiser or yacht of comparable size

See it. Soon.

A NOTE ABOUT GEAR RATIOS

LOW GEAR, as in a car, is for starting out and hill climbing Tires revolve fewer times for each time you pedal This means resistance is minimal and pedaling is easier

The lower your lowest gear is, the easier your starts and hill climbing will be.

HIGHER GEARS increase the number of times tires revolve for each time you pedal Shifting through the gear ratio range will allow you to increase the speed of the bike without pedaling any faster

The higher your highest gear is, the faster your bike will go with a minimum amount of pedaling

SHIPPING NOTE FOR BOTH PAGES

All bikes are sent motor carrier or express in "long packs" wheels fully assembled on frame. You need only install seat, pedals, handlebar and kickstand Most Sears Catalog Sales Offices will arrange for assembly of your catalog-ordered bike for only a small service charge

KENYON

Known for several decades as a supplier of accurate marine instruments, Kenyon Marine also furnishes Homestrand Stoves, Chelsea Clocks and Barometers, Sea-Flex Hose, Star Hardware, and Proctor Spars. Kenyon instruments include the well known speedometers and logs for both power and sail, apparent wind indicators, anemometers, and a tell-tale compass. The last item mounts above the owner's berth, revealing the yacht's heading underway or at the mooring.

Kenyon Marine, Guilford, Conn. 06437

HYDRON

Hydrophilic means having an affinity for water and don't we all? However, specifically, Hydron Speed Coat is a hydrophilic, tough layer which is applied to hulls over anti-foulant paint. This coating absorbs water, alters the nature of the boundary layer between hull and sea, produces increased efficiency and life for antifouling undercoats and reduces drag. Its use is said to significantly reduce both fuel consumption and time intervals between hauls.

Hydron Marine Laboratories, Inc., 375 Park Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022

CANOR PLAREX

Although best known for its safety and foul weather apparel, Canor Plarex also makes available to discriminating yachtsmen ship's hardware and mooring equipment. Among their featured protective clothing is a one-piece nylon sailing suit from Norway. Generously cut, it offers freedom of movement in durable polyvinyl-coated nylon. In a wide range of sizes, it retails at about $50.

Canor Plarex, Inc., 4200 23rd Ave. W., Seattle, Wash., or 6 Westchester Plaza, Elmsford, N.Y.

IDEAL WINDLASS

A series of three davits is offered for handling small dinghies, tenders, or sailboats aboard yachts and houseboats. Model 400 davits are available with pedestal, deck or transom mounts. A hand operated winch on the unit handles loads to 400 lbs. with 20 pounds of crank effort. All models rotate 360 degrees and can be easily removed from the mounting socket. Details and specifications are available.

Ideal Windlass Co., Inc., East Greenwich, R.I. 02818

ONAN

"Live better electrically afloat," invites this manufacturer, offering marine electric generating plants and marine battery chargers. Housepower diesel electric plants range from a miniature 3,000 watter up to a hefty 30,000 watt powerhouse. Gasoline plants start at 1,000 watts and go to 15,000. Naturally, the company furnishes complete controls and accessories.

Onan, 1400 73rd Ave. N.E., Minneapolis, Minn. 55432

KOEHLER-DAYTON

Two versions of the company's Mark VI Sewage Treatment System are offered to boatmen, Standard and Fail-safe. The circuitry in the fail-safe model deenergizes the unit when the supply of HTH tablets is depleted. Both models, properly supplied with HTH, receive and macerate raw sewage, treat it with chlorine to reduce bacteria coliform count, and discharge effluent directly overboard.

Koehler Dayton, Inc., 401 Leo St., Dayton, Ohio 45404

SHIP'S WHEEL

Doodads and delights for the yachtsman are featured in the Ship's Wheel catalog for '72, plus furniture, lamps, clothing, books, nautical instruments, and tools. Of especial interest is the folding bicycle, a three-speed compact for popping about strange ports, at about $100. And, from the sublime to the necessary, there is also Dissolv-a-way, a toilet tissue that is biodegradable and disintegrates in the water. If you like, you can squeeze it. The 40 page catalog can be got from:

Pat Baird Ship's Wheel, Inc., 1516 W. 55th St., La Grange, Ill. 60525

WAY-WOLFF

Ship heating and cooling is now available for craft as small as 40'. Designed to overcome space limitations, the new Way-Wolff Ship Cooler is a compact 110-volt, 2-ton cooling unit. It can be installed for cooling alone, or in combination with a Way-Wolff Ship Heater. The basic system circulates either hot or chilled air through Twin-Vectors in each cabin area, and the system is automatic.

Way-Wolff Associates, Inc., 45-10 Vernon Blvd., Long Island City, N.Y. 11101

HINDE ENGINEERING

An Air-Aqua Ice Melting System will protect your boat (or dock) all winter from crushing ice. Aeration through bottom-laid valved tubing brings controlled amounts of water to the surface; the agitation keeps ice from forming. The works—motor, air compressor, tubing—engineered to your specific needs.

Hinde Engineering Co., 654 Deerfield Rd., Highland Park, Ill. 60035

CROWELL

"You can bet your life on it," says Crowell of its bilge pump design. Model BK-12 delivers 1,300 gallons per hour, open flow, and 1,020 GPH against a 3' head. Price is $34.95. The Mini King Model sucks up more than 300 GPH against the usual head, costs $19.95. Automatic switches, shower pumps, strainers, and battery charging equipment also appear in the company's product list.

Crowell Design, Inc., 2106 Bridge Ave., Pt Pleasant, N.J. 08742

JAMES BLISS

Bliss & Company's 1972 offering include the latest in yachting apparel, galley ware, navigational instruments, books, gifts, and nautical whatnot. Kits to make model ships and real live kayaks, dinghies, and canoes are also available. They have two catalogs. "Everything Marine" (280 pages, $1) and "Ship Models" (80 pages, 50¢).

Leadership in staple merchandise

New York Toy Fair Review

APRIL 1972

STAPLES IN DEMAND

This Toy Fair buyers have been putting their orders where their thoughts are—on staples. For 1971 figures proved that they didn't love in December the hot-shot TV and novelties items they loved in March. Overall industry figures showed many declines. In almost every

"ERTLKINS" STAND OUT AMONGST MANY NEWLY INTRODUCED PRESCHOOL TOY LINES

EXCLUSIVE FEATURES ATTRACT GREAT BUYER INTEREST

Die-cast metal body, multiple play actions, continuity in "personality" theme seen as strong long range line build up.

There's mounting competition in that still expanding preschool toy market. And plenty of it if 1972 Toy Fair presentations are any indication . . . especially Ertl's entry, Ertlkins—a new dimension in toys for ages 2 to 5.

Toy buyers found themselves facing a different kind of problem, this year, in placing orders for preschool toys; suddenly a number of long time resources added preschool toys to their regular lines. The dominance and still increasing volume of Fisher Price in this category, notwithstanding, has attracted others to try for a share in the further expansion retailers are planning for toys aimed at the 2 to 5 market.

Comparison of the major new offerings reveals that only one line has introduced features distinctively different enough to open new prospectives for toy sales to the preschool market. That line is Ertlkins, Ertl's initial collection featuring "Funmobiles" as vehicles for the DAREDEVIL CYCLIST, the HUMAN CANNONBALL and the MITE-Y MENAGERIE.

Each toy is different and offers a different and varied kind of multiple play action—yet each have many things in common. They have a common theme in the Ertlkins characters—a marketing concept to help generate multiple unit sales . . . a common and attractively compelling package . . . They are made of safe, non toxic materials. Each is mounted on a truck made stronger to last longer through a die-cast, rust-resistant metal body construction . . . an outgrowth, obviously, of the engineering quality which has elevated Ertl to leadership in its category of vehicle toys. Ertlkins are unlike most preschool toys which are made only of plastic.

Each toy consists of a driver and an Ertlkins "personality" performer. They sit in front seats and pop up and down alternately to a rhythmic sound effect when the toys are in motion—either as push toys or pull toys.

When not in motion the multiple play activities of each provide varied kinds of play

NEW DAISY TOYS LEAD WAY IN FOCUSING MAJOR MARKET INTEREST ON PLAYGUNS

"DAISY COUNTRY" DEPICTED IN NEW VARIATIONS OF CLEAN, FRESH, WHOLESOME, HEALTHY ATMOSPHERE FOR PLAY WITH TOY GUNS

Daisy "Prospector" Set Offers Authentic Gold Discovery Map and Compass with Daisy Super-Play Rifle

Inspired by the growth in gold panning as a hobby in recent years Daisy has introduced a toy version of the type of historic gold pan plus an authentic prospecting map in a set which includes a compass and one of Daisy's famous superplay rifles.

The map itself contains much useful and educational information: Where to find Gold . . . How to pan for it . . . Historic dates in gold discoveries.

Though intended for playfun as a toy—gold and other precicious metals and minerals could actually be discovered with the equipment in this set.

The super play rifle is an authentic Western with lever-cocking action, made of a rugged heavy guage rust-resistant steel barrel and super

Daisy "Prospector" Set With Rifle, Gold Pan and Map

Daisy "Explorer" Set Has New and Original Type Of Enlarging Gunsight Viewer on Daisy Super-Play Rifle.

Like the "up close" photographic effects created by TV and movie zoom cameras—the Daisy "Zoomscope" mounted to a Daisy superplay rifle actually "brings the target up close BIG" in this Daisy Zoomscope Explorer Set.

The Zoomscope, though basically a toy, is a 3 unit, 3 position, optically compensated zoom lens system with variable power magnification (.5x to 1.5x) molded in a durable high impact plastic (ABS) stream lined housing.

By enlarging what is sighted the Zoomscope expands the play activity of the set encouraging exploring close up views of many different things.

BERTRAM INTERNATIONAL 63' MOTOR YACHT UNDER WAY AT 23.7 KNOTS

the crowd-pleaser.

You set out for a cruise with a few friends on a warm sunny day, and everyone wants to ride up top on the flybridge.

On most yachts, even the big ones, there just isn't room enough. So you end up taking turns or sitting on each other's laps.

On the new Bertram International 63' Motor Yacht we've designed a wraparound sundeck bridge that more than doubles the amount of usable space.

And when the sun sinks below the yard-arm, you can have the whole group up for dockside cocktails under the stars.

The bridge isn't the only new thing you'll find on our 63 footers. There's an interior layout that gives you even roomier below-decks accommodations. And a few engineering refinements that make our already spectacular performance even more so.

If you're looking at the big ones, we suggest you look first at ours. They'll give you a standard to judge the others by.

For more information about the kind of owner-comfort thinking that goes into every Bertram International, send $2 for your copy of Dick Bertram's own book, "The Deep Vee Story." With an introduction by Carleton Mitchell, it tells the whole story of the development of these magnificent fiberglass deep vee yachts. 74′ OFFSHORE STEEL YACHT Built in Holland to Lloyds highest rating. Range of 3500 miles. Vosper stabilizers. Luxurious accommodations for six in owner's party, crew of four.

63′ BERTRAM INTERNATIONAL

Motor yacht comfort and luxury, thrilling speed, security offshore. Molded fiberglass hull, custom handcrafted, teak trim inside and out. Also available with cockpit.

134′ SEAGOING YACHT

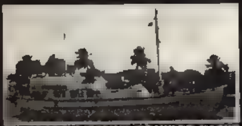
Nothing has been spared to build a yacht that can go anywhere in the world and cruise independently. This vessel is one of the finest of her size and type.

65′ GREBE

One of the latest of a famous line of luxury yachts, this was built in 1970 of aluminum while retaining traditional Grebe craftsmanship. Three doubles aft.

61′ BLUE WATER CRUISER

Has the rugged construction, range and seafaring ability of a trawler, but is styled and finished as a yacht. Twin GM 6-71 Diesel power. Finest electronic equipment. Three double staterooms.



98′ GLOBE CIRCLING TRAWLER YACHT

William Garden design. Twin Diesel powered. Range 3500 miles. Steadying rig plus twin spinnakers for running the Trades. Go anywhere in the world in complete comfort.

64′ CRUISER-FISHERMAN

Jack Hargraves designed this able yacht and Halmatic built her of fiberglass to go anywhere. Her equipment list is fabulous, and her accommodations are luxurious.

60′ PACEMAKER MOTOR YACHT

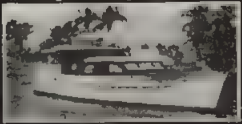
A beautifully equipped 1971 yacht with a delightful list of custom features and extras. Has two completely enclosed salons for maximum living and cruising comfort.

84′ TRUMPY FLUSH DECK CRUISER

One of the finest of this type ever built. A proven, much admired yacht of quality. Special insulation for silent cruising. Tastefully furnished throughout.

64′ ALUMINUM BURGER

Very desirable 1968 yacht. Decor and furnishings are outstanding. Master stateroom especially designed for live-aboard comfort. One owner and maintained by same meticulous captain since launched.



60′ BURGER

Here is an older Burger that is seriously for sale and priced low. In 1971 she was sandblasted and upgraded. We recommend her for excellent value on today's market.

81′ ALUMINUM BURGER

This is a special customized ocean going yacht with added fuel and water capacity for great range. Separate living and dining salons. Many 1971 mechanical replacements and [illegible]. A remarkable yacht.

BIG AND BEAUTIFUL

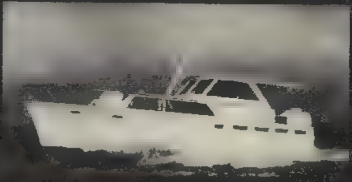
[illegible] admired in any waters.

Twin Diesel power gives 20 MPH cruise and generous generating capacity provides all electric convenience while underway which is the way you will want to be as much as possible. A nice cruising feature is the Boston Whaler with electric davit carried on the fore deck.

The cockpit and deckhouse will seem huge by most comparative standards, and three double staterooms provide maximum privacy and comfortable cruising for owner and guests.

Matthews quality and workmanship is too well known to require description. Needless to say, this yacht is a fine example, a pleasure to own and enjoy. Contact Bud Brown of our Fort Lauderdale office for full information.

LIKE NEW PACEMAKER



seriously for sale. Built in 1971 this 47-footer is a buy of excellent value. Twin GM 6-71s give a cruising speed of 20 MPH. Equipment has been selected with care reflecting the experience of her owner and the way he cares about his boat.

Accommodations are excellent for a 47' boat. There are two double staterooms aft and a third forward for either guests or crew. A convertible in the salon sleeps two as does the convertible dinette. Even the aft deck lounge is a roomy and inviting living center. So whether it is ultimate privacy for three couples or maximum accommodations you desire, this boat offers the best of either.

Having had excellent care this is a "like new" offering at a substantial saving over replacement cost. Jim Judson of our Fort Lauderdale office will be glad to tell you more.

IDEAL FAMILY CRUISER—FISHERMAN

is this late model 42' Chris Craft Commander. Excellent accommodations, speed and easy handling characteristics, excellent electronics and cruising equipment, and fishability, offer maximum utility and versatility for the family who loves the water.

A brief sampling of her equipment inventory includes: Radar, two Lorans, three RDFs, two autopilots, two fathometers, color TV, a Zodiac with outboard, a folding bicycle, and a Honda motorcycle. There is much more, but this gives you an idea of the love and care lavished on this boat by her former owner that can now be enjoyed by her fortunate new owner. She is ready to step aboard, cast off and go. [illegible] derdale office [illegible] is offered by this unusual 43' cruiser. She was designed by well known West Coast Naval Architect Ed Monk, and her fiberglass hull is thoroughly seagoing. Her accommodations are developed around the houseboat concept to provide maximum liveability and comfort. Many houseboats of this size don't have a private stateroom, this one does, a double forward with head and shower. The pilot house is topped by a flybridge having comfortable built-in seating for at least six persons. The low profile deckhouse is light and airy, encompassing a full width galley and a spacious living salon with convertible sofa sleeping two guests. She has twin Diesel power, a Diesel generator, [illegible] range tankage [illegible] only [illegible]

THE BEST OF EVERYTHING

HAL ROBERTS. Though born in Massachusetts Hal has spent most of his life in Florida. He just returned from three years in Jamaica where he was a member of the Royal Jamaica Yacht Club and has lived aboard boats for the past five years. Hal's extensive firsthand knowledge of boating has proved invaluable in his service to his clients.

JIM ROLES. A native of Oregon, Jim graduated from City College of Los Angeles and served on a Marine Corps boat crew during World War II. Besides being a former book publisher on the West Coast, Jim is a lifelong yachtsman and ocean racer. His experience with boats has made him one of our most successful brokers.

BILL SCHOPF joined our Fort Lauderdale office in 1966 as a broker after owning and managing a marine sales and service operation in Fort Myers, Florida, for ten years. His lifetime of boating experience includes 14 years in the merchant marine.

PETER SCHWEITZER is a graduate of Duke University and a former Naval officer. He has cruised and fished extensively from the Great Barrier Reef in Australia to Nova Scotia and the Bahamas. Pete has been yachting and tournament fishing actively since moving to Florida 20 years ago from Cleveland. Peter has been with our Lauderdale office since 1965 as a broker.

MILT STERN was president of Palmer Johnson Boats, Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin, handling repairs, new construction and sales before moving to Florida in 1961 to become a yacht broker. Milt joined our Miami office in 1966, bringing with him a lifetime of yachting experience, both sail and large power.

DON TURNER. Lake Hopatcong and Barnegat Bay were Don's playgrounds when he was a boy back in New Jersey. He hasn't been off the water since. With F Service Runabout racing and East Coast cruising in his background, Don brings a wealth of experience in boating to his new position on our brokerage staff.

HARVEY WILLIAMS has been professionally active in the yachting field for a number of years. He was a boat builder in Puerto Rico, and associated with Bertram Whittaker Factory in Miami. He is a very knowledgeable yachtsman.

YACHT BROKERAGE

Whether you are interested in buying or selling, we offer you the services of this team of highly-trained, experienced brokers.

Boats are their business. As brokers it is our professional function to act as liaison between buyer and seller. Through our contacts we know where the kind of boat you're looking for can be located and we can offer you expert advice as to your best buy.

These same men can be equally helpful to you if you are selling your boat. A constant stream of potential buyers are attracted to Richard Bertram & Company from all over the world, not only because of our reputation but also through our continuing extensive advertising.

Bertram Special Sales Service — the fast way to sell your boat — is available for selected yachts of high quality. For detailed information of this unique plan, send for our free "Special Sales Service" brochure.

Our Miami offices and yard are located on the Miami River, just east of the Airport and convenient to the expressway system. We are readily accessible either by water or from landside.

At Bertram Yacht Yard we are equipped to give your yacht meticulous care. We have open and undercover slips up to 150 feet in sheltered, fresh water Our Syncrolift marine elevator will haul vessels up to 90 feet and 100 tons. All repairs, custom joinerwork, gas and Diesel service, refrigeration and air conditioning, rewiring and electrical work, electronics, paint and varnish work are provided by the top yard crew found anywhere.

For visiting yachtsmen and crews, we have hot showers, mail and phone service, daily deliveries of groceries and supplies. Private lockers are available.

Our grounds are fenced, well-lit and patrolled around the clock.

We give contract prices on yard work, which means that you know in advance what the job will cost and that it will be delivered when promised.

Our Ft. Lauderdale facility is at the beautiful Bahia Mar Yachting Center, one of the most modern and best appointed marinas in the world, conveniently located between the Intracoastal Waterway and the Ocean.

PAUL AMEND. A former yacht captain and marine insurance broker with a lifelong love of the water Paul originally joined us in the Richard Bertram Insurance Agency in Miami He recently became a member of our brokerage staff and I am happy to welcome him aboard in his new capacity.

CHARLES HOTALING'S experience in marine sales and service covers 25 years. We raced sneakboxes against one another as kids on Barnegat Bay. Charlie joined me in 1962 at the plant where we manufactured the Bertram boats and later moved to our Fort Lauderdale office

DON AVERY joined our Miami office in 1961 He has served his clients well so that his business today comes mostly from repeats and referrals from all over the world Don Avery has sold more new Bertrams than any man alive

JIM JUDSON. Born in Pennsylvania and raised in Virginia, Jim served a Navy tour and followed that with charter work and commercial fishing in the Chesapeake. With his marine experience and a background in aircraft and electrical engineering, Jim has a rare combination of talents to offer his clients.

ARTHUR A. "BUD" BROWN came to our Fort Lauderdale office in 1957 from Ohio where his family operated marinas and boat sales agencies for 60 years. Bud is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University and of the General Motors Institute

ARTHUR "SKIP" MARGOLIS. "Skip" has returned to us after a brief leave of absence. Long associated with the boat business in western New York state as owner and manager of two marinas with new boat dealerships. "Skip" also pilots his own plane I am very happy to welcome him back with us

OAK GENTRY. Besides playing on Oklahoma's championship football team, Oak found time to major in business administration and psychology. He moved to Florida in 1962, and entered the marine field as a professional diver Until recently at the Bertram factory, Oak is now one of our most product-wise brokers

DICK MERRIT is a member of a three generation boating family His father, Buddy Merritt, is the builder of the famous Merritt sportfishing boats that have won so many tuna tournaments I have known Dick since his early teens and was delighted when he joined our Lauderdale office in 1968.

BILL GILMAN. Long before he graduated from M I T. Bill had his own first boat as a boy in the waters of Sheepshead Bay. During World War II he flew in the South Pacific and later ran his own Public Relations, Radio and TV firm in New York. Moving to Florida in 1964 Bill returned to his lifelong love, yachts, and has been a top broker here ever since

DON PATTON has been my friend for over 20 years and is one of the finest seamen I know His experience covers both amateur and professional yachting, racing, chartering, commercial salvage and towing in both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Don joined us in 1968 and for 1970 earned the distinction of becoming broker of the year for our Miami office

JACK HALEY is a native down-easter with salt water in his blood Jack owned his first sailboat at the age of nine. Before coming to our Miami office in 1966 he operated his own marine business in Marblehead, Massachusetts for nine years

JIM RAMSEY. As a yacht captain Jim acquired a 100-ton license and later worked in sales with a leading Detroit marina He moved to Florida and served as Sales Manager for a widely known power boat manufacturer before joining us as a broker Jim's experience and cruising knowledge of the East and Gulf coasts and Great Lakes equip him well to serve you.

KENT HILL is from a well known sailing family and his late father, R. O. H. Hill, and I were friends for many years Kent was brought up around sailboats and has been racing and cruising everything from dinghies to large auxiliaries. He first went into boat sales in Rochester New York in 1959, joined me in Miami in 1967

IRVING RESNIK. Irv came to us from his native New Hampshire with a multifaceted background of sales experience. A World War II flier, a hotel operator imported car dealer and business executive, Irv's wide boating experience and keen abilities serve him and his clients well.

BERTRAM INTERNATIONAL

NEW BOAT SALES

Besides selling our own magnificent Bertram Internationals, we are dealers for the Bertram Yacht Corporation, division of Whittaker. As the largest Bertram dealer, we offer immediate delivery on most models right out of inventory when they may not be available from other dealers.

Our sales people are knowledgeable boatsmen who know the boats they sell. We accept trades of both big and small boats, and can arrange bank financing with low down payments and up to 7 years to pay. And once you have taken delivery on your boat, our service organization is available to you for as long as you own her, for prompt and efficient service.

BERTRAM INTERNATIONAL

Our Bertram International division was started in 1964 with the objective of translating the proven virtues of the Bertram deep vee hull into large high performance yachts. The result is today's superb fleet of Bertram International Motor Yachts, Cruisers, and Sport Fishermen. These luxurious 55′ to 63′ fiberglass deep vee's outperform all other boats in their class. Outperform in speed. Outperform in stability and ease of handling. Especially in seas that send other boats their size running for cover.

Bertram Internationals incorporate superb hand craftsmanship of a kind you thought nobody knew how to do anymore, down to the finest details.

A multitude of unique engineering and interior design features cause owners to tell us that Bertram Internationals are not only the best built yachts but also the easiest to service and maintain.

YACHTS

AT RICHARD BERTRAM & COMPANY, our business is selling boats, and providing the needed services related to operation of a boat

We are now in our twenty-sixth year, and for the last twenty of those years we've enjoyed the distinction of being the largest yacht brokerage organization in the world

Being the biggest may not in itself make one the best. But in our case, I am convinced that our continued growth over the years is because we have the finest group of people in the yacht business on our staff

On the next few pages, I would like you to meet some of our key people. These are the men and women I have to thank for our fine reputation, and I am proud to introduce them

If you have not yet visited our facilities, I hope you will soon do so. We look forward to seeing you the engine is shut down. In that case she may start, run a quarter minute or so on fuel already in the carburetor float bowl, then quit and refuse to start.

Vapor lock is the formation of gasoline steam pockets and bubbles in a hot section of fuel line, usually that section close to the engine. In expanding, the bubbles prevent the flow of gasoline and starve the engine. If you suspect vapor lock, cool the warm fuel lines with a wet cloth; allow the engine to cool for a few minutes; then try starting. If your engine habitually suffers from vapor lock, have a mechanic look into the routing of the fuel lines. These should be routed away from hot engine surfaces, should be laid out without inverted U vapor traps, and should be insulated. Preferably, the lines should slope smoothly upward to the fuel pump, thence upward to the carburetor.

She won't start after lay-up.

This is a special case of just about every problem thus far described, except those of hot starting. However, place special emphasis on the following:

1. Fuel lines and carburetor dry
2. Carburetor stuck with gum and tar
3. Salt crust on ignition wires
4. Plugs oily or foul
5. Battery discharged

To relieve the starter motor of a prolonged, tough cranking job, prime the carburetor prior to the first start-up attempt. Carefully pour a shot glass of gasoline into the float bowl pick up tube. If a bit of fuel dribbled down into the intake manifold, so much the better; it'll prime the innards. But don't overdo it to the extent of flooding the machine.

Several other pre-start procedures will help after a lay-up: Clean and wipe down the entire ignition system with CRC or other ignition moisture fighter. Clean and gap the spark plugs, replace them if they appear ratty. Check points and timing. Squirt or spray a little penetrating oil into each cylinder through the spark plug holes; and charge the battery to tip-top condition before hooking it up to fresh, clean cables.

During a tough starting session, as at that first start-up, use the starter in short spurts of about five seconds. Then let her rest for ten or fifteen seconds. This procedure keeps the starter from overheating, and gives the battery cells time to catch their breath between onslaughts.

What about starting aids?

Six kinds of aids come to mind, each being a help in its place:

1. Sprays and canned liquids to squirt in the carburetor
2. Ignition driers
3. Jumper cables
4. Spare batteries
5. Auxiliary chargers
6. Ye olde hand crank

The main ingredient in starting liquids that you fizz into the carburetor air horn is ether. It's real dynamite; and it works in helping start a balky, cold, sluggish engine. But be careful with the stuff: Too much may damage the engine. Also, if you breathe much of the vapor, it'll knock you out; and if you spill it in the bilge, it'll knock the boat out. Take it easy with this stuff.

Sold as sprays and canned liquids, ignition driers are good medicine. Treat the wiring, distributor, coil, and ballast resistor frequently with this stuff, and you'll find damp morning starts a lot easier. Many gas stations, most auto supply stores and marine suppliers sell it in one form or another.

Jumper cables are obviously a help if your battery is soggy and you need boost juice to get started. A word of caution: "Don't cross polarities by mistake—not even for a split second." Should you attach the cables to the positive side of the booster battery and

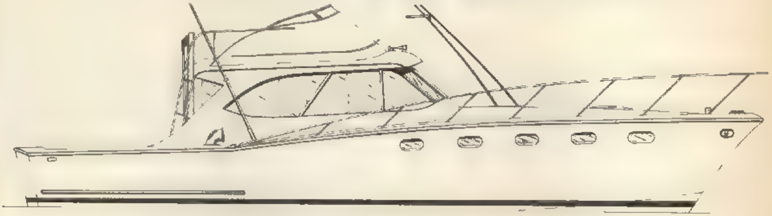
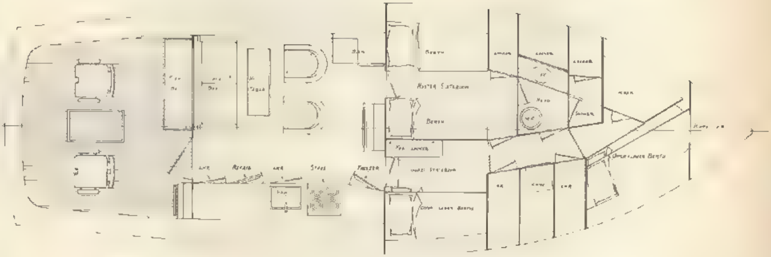
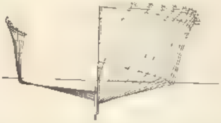
46 FT. SPORTSFISHERMAN PLANS

FOR CONSTRUCTION BY SMALL YARDS







LWL—40′-5″

Beam—15′-5″

LOA—45′-7″

Draft—3′-2″

We were just sort of fooling around the office one day and this thing sort of appeared on the board. We liked it so much that it was decided to finish up the plans and offer them as a stock plan to the small yard who might be interested in building a boat on speculation to keep its good men on through slack periods. My Father did this.

Of particular interest is the fact that her arrangement plan features two private staterooms as well as an adequate crews quarters. This is made possible by putting the helm in the middle of the main bulkhead, therefore making possible the use of two companionways.

The master stateroom features two large single berths and an ample hanging locker. No dresser is provided, however, the two single berths provide more than ample drawer space. The adjoining door between staterooms could and perhaps should be eliminated to provide room for a dresser.

The ample size toilet room and stall shower is meant for use by all hands. It was felt that the room taken up by a crews head could be put to better use.

When the guest stateroom is in use, both the guests and the crew can close the doors of their quarters thus making the head accessible in privacy to all hands as well as the two large lockers and chest of drawers opposite the head.

The pilot house is laid out for the type of entertaining generally done on these boats, which is cocktails and hors d'oeuvres before going to dinner at a restaurant.

This boat has a cockpit helm optional which is growing in popularity as the skipper can assist in boating a big fish without being too far from the controls.

Her construction is vee bottom with straight frame sections for ease of construction on a one shot boat. Any one of the many successful, if done right, planking systems could be used—carvel, batten seam or double planked.

Power is optional. Twin 370 Cummins, for example, will push her right close to 30 M.P.H. if she is not too heavily loaded.

She is a stock plan available to boat yards and sophisticated amateur builders for $1000 per set.

Before there was a Model T there was an Audi.

As most of you know, sometime around the turn of the century (1908 to be exact), Henry Ford brought forth his famous Model T.

As most of you don't know, sometime before 1908 (1904 to be exact), August Horch brought forth his not-so-famous Horch—which was what an Audi was called before it was called an Audi.

Now the importance of this car was not merely that it predated the Model T but also that it was a remarkable automobile in its own right.

For example, it had four cylinders, overhead valves, a top speed of 44 miles an hour and a dual ignition system. Considering the year, 1904, these were amazing accomplishments.

"The Audi should be an automobile of superb craftsmanship and ingenuity." That was our motto then. That is our motto now.

Today's Audi, for example, has rack-and-pinion steering, front disc brakes, servo-thrust synchromesh transmission, front-wheel drive, independent front suspension and twin adjustable torsion bars in the rear. Plus some other plums. Like seats that were designed by orthopedic surgeons. And a ventilation system that allows for a complete change of air every 30 seconds.

We consider our present-day Audi a truly remarkable automobile.

And indeed we should.

We've been working on it since 1904

STOP ROT — PERMANENTLY

CALAHAN'S LIQUID PLASTIC CALIGNUM® HAS COMPLETELY STOPPED ROT IN OVER 20,000 BOATS. NOT ONE CASE OF ROT RECURRENCE HAS EVER BEEN REPORTED.

How does CALIGNUM® permanently dispose of rot when other epoxy rot cures fail? The answer is greater wood penetration and harder curing. CALIGNUM® permeates rot all the way to sound wood. It's high penetration formula never leaves a 'wet-zone' between good and bad wood. It dries hard yet flexible, not soft and spongy. Check the hard-to-get at 'water-traps' in your boat now for soft spots. Treat them with CALIGNUM® and your wood will be stronger than it was originally. $5.00 worth of CALIGNUM® can often save $1000 or more in carpentry. 4 oz. kit $3.95, pint $8.95, quart $16.50, gallon $59.50.

SEAL BEFORE YOU SAIL — WITH CALAHAN'S SEAMWELD.

Years of Calahan research bring you a fantastic new sealer for hulls, decks, cabin tops - anywhere your boat can leak. SEAMWELD has better adhesion and cures harder than ordinary epoxy sealers. It penetrates cracks, fills them and forms a flexible protective film all in one operation. Unlike many epoxy sealers it dries quickly — never remains tacky. Its penetrating and drying characteristics make it an ideal undercoat for other finishes. No need to use fiberglass, linoleum or canvas on problem areas when SEAMWELD's slick flexible film guarantees a perfect watertight job. 2 lbs. (quart) $5.75, 8 lbs. (gallon) $18.95, thinner pint $1.75.

If your dealer cannot supply you, order direct and add 10% for handling. Send 25¢ for our catalog containing details on CALTOX®, our guaranteed anti-fouling paint for polluted waters, and other fine Calahan products.

move things to get at something else. Even our 75 feet of ⅜-in. nylon tow line is alone and in the clear under a cockpit seat. The fire extinguishers ride over the old man's bunk and under the driver's seat. For bedding, sleeping bags serve us admirably.

One luxury is the Eveready fluorescent lights. With big ones over the galley and dinette, reading and writing are as easy as home. Smaller ones over the bunks and next to the book shelf are an equal joy. They burn the absolute minimum of juice and the light is extremely bright.

To warm the cabins and take away the wet chill which fog and rainy spells inevitably bring, an Eberspecher diesel-fired heater is located under a cockpit side deck. Even on the colder nights, well above 62 degrees north, it didn't take long to make it hotter than comfortable. Fuel consumption we've never been able to notice, though it nearly bends the ammeter hand against the full discharge pin when it is starting. Once it is fully fired, the heater's draw is more modest, but it is a juice eater, for sure.

Our water supply, with only 30 gallons, is in a stainless tank under the rope locker forward. With jerry can back-ups, we find it lasts 10 days. Plenty of room for further tankage under the cabin sole, if it's ever wanted. Hand pumps help conserve the limited supply, and while not nearly as nice as a pressure system, they do tend to simplify the machinery. The seawater pump is often used to wash, rinse, fill bottles for sinking into the sea, and generally save the fresh water.

Neat but not gaudy, the linear galley is complete.

The compact head, with its sliding under-deck basin, is just the right size. The only trouble we've ever had with our Blake Baby head is sucking weeds from a shoal Danish harbor into the intake. And that will stop most marine toilets.

How does the boat run and handle? In a word, great, and all the time. This was my first diesel, my first double ender, and I had much to learn. I'm still pretty ignorant about the diesel though. Check the oil, water and gear box daily, change filters and oils every 200 hours, and forget it. Just turn the key for go, pull the fuel shut-off for stop. The only time she didn't start, I'd been mashed in Kristiansand harbor for 13 days by a weather system that just couldn't seem to quit. It was a snug berth and every now and again I'd run the engine to put back what the fridge, heater and lights were taking out. But not quite often enough, for one morning I hit the key and got only a short thunk for my efforts.

Wandering a few blocks down the street to a Ford garage, I explained my predicament. A Norwegian mechanic, line-

ALASKAN

THE TRAVELER

The Alaskans don't stay in port much. They're travelers; seagoing vessels built to tackle any cruise you may have in mind. But beyond that, they are luxury and comfort and home to their crews, and that's why we call them motorships.

With a cruising range in excess of 1600 miles on her dependable twin diesels; with her 57,000 pound displacement and rugged construction in a capable offshore design by Robert S. Dorris; with her excellent wheelhouse complete with watch berth settee and table and plenty of navigation space — the Alaskan 49 is all ship.

And with an outstanding accommodation plan that includes an excellent owner's suite with private head with tub and shower; a main saloon suitable for crew relaxation or a good sized dinner party; a modern galley with all the space and equipment to keep that crew or dinner party going, with all this, the Alaskan 49 is all pleasure

You owe it to your cruising plans to inspect the Alaskan 49 now The Alaskan 49 — the traveler

Allmand "34"

John Allmand does it again.

With all due modesty we announce that we've built a great 34-footer for the price of a 31'. It took John Allmand to do it.

Our 34' may come as a surprise to those who buy the story that a luxury boat has to sell for at least $1,000 a foot. Who says?

And before you start thinking that our 34' must cost less because you get less boat, take a look.

It's an all fiberglass, twin station, agile beauty with a modified V-hull. It sleeps 8, in three (3!) private sleeping areas. It features easy steering that makes it handle like a much smaller boat. It has a keel (unlike many other boats in its class) to hold a truer course even at low speeds. It has an all fiberglass longitudinal stringer system (most of the other fellows are still covering wood stringers with fiberglass).

Our 23's. Anything you want in a 23, from an economical series priced no higher than the other fellows' 19-footers, to a custom series that even offers a flybridge.

Our deep V 25's. One of the few 25's you can trailer. And they can really take the rigors of trailering. Because like all Allmands, the 25's have a moulded fiberglass stringer system for extra strength.

"Simply the dryest, fastest and easiest riding open fishing boat..."

That's what they're saying about the new Aquasport 22-2. This is the open fisherman for big water! Modified semi-vee hull. Completely new center console with "flip top" design, built-in shelf, and teak drink rack. Sixty gallon fuel tank foamed-in-place down in the bilge. Two king-size dry storage lockers, with one specifically sized to hold a portable head. Like all Aquasports, the new 22-2 has 360 degrees of unobstructed room, teak rod racks under the sides and out of the way, fiberglass stringers which provide better support yet will never rot. And she's self-bailing at rest or underway and non-sinkable.

One of our quality-control engineers summed up the new 22-2 as being "one hell of a boat...for fishermen or family fun." See for yourself at your nearest Aquasport dealer...or write us for all the details 37 expensive feet. By any measure. For total performance and unparalleled comfort afloat, should you afford less?

Banjer's unique and incomparably seaworthy North Sea design, hand laid-up fiberglass hull and genuine solid all-teak interior begin to answer the question. Other Banjer specs-at-a-glance reveal more of an unmatched sea-conquering capability: Beam: 11'5". Draft 4'7". Sail Area: 525 Sq. Ft. Ballast. 4 Tons. Displ.: 12 Tons. Standard Power. 4 Cyl. 85 HP Diesel. Cruising Range: 1,000 Miles. That's Banjer. Dutch-built (and that is really built). Probably more ship than boat. To a discriminating few, their own Dutch Treat.

You know who you are.

Steel Tennis Racquet

5128A3250—This is the first steel tennis racquet selected by the United States Lawn Tennis Association. Frame made of chrome-moly steel tubes, welded into a streamlined one piece unit The open-throat design cuts wind resistance to a minimum. The racquet is conventionally strung with nylon requiring no special equipment for restringing. Along the rim, the string is recessed to prevent scuffing and grommets of brass are used instead of breakable plastic The grip is more comfortable because porous wood is used to absorb both perspiration and impact Deluxe leather covers the wood grip A press is not needed since this racquet will not warp or split Cover included Available in. 4½ Light, 4⅝ Medium, 4¾ Heavy Specify.

are going, going...

But lucky for you, they're not yet gone.
If you hurry, you can still get one of the year's best deals at your Buick dealer's now.
He's stocked up big for this once-a-year dealing time. And he's making some once-a-year deals on all the new Buicks, from Skylarks to Electras and Rivieras.
Including the Buick we sell more of than any other kind—LeSabre.
The full-sized Buick that fits so nicely into so many families' budgets.
With equipment like a Turbo Hydra-matic transmission, variable-ratio power steering, a responsive 350-cubic-inch V8 engine, front power disc brakes and Buick's AccuDrive handling system
—all standard.
The deals that your Buick dealer is making right now are too good to last.
See him quick about a new Buick during Buick Bargain Days.
Before they're all gone.

Drive a bargain at your Buick dealer's now.

The more you seek out excellence, the more you belong in a Cadillac.

In every age, there are those who place a special premium on achievement and excellence. For them, there is Cadillac. A car so universally admired its very name describes the best there is. For this kind of person, there is Cadillac excellence at every turn. Cadillac styling. Cadillac comfort. Cadillac engineering. Cadillac driving peace of mind. And then there is the final confirmation of Cadillac excellence: Cadillac resale value—traditionally the highest of any car built in the land. As you can see, there are many reasons for you to visit your authorized Cadillac dealer. All of them excellent.

One thing you don't seek . . . is another lecture on safety. No lecture then. Just facts. Fact: More Americans have died in traffic than in all our wars. Fact: Drinking is a factor in half the traffic deaths. Therefore, we urge you

Cadillac

Something With Diesel in It

If you have the nerve, Cary Marine's Diesel Cruiser could give you a whole new personal image. The photo pretty well tells the surface story, but the Cary 49 isn't just a pretty face. Of substantial fiberglass construction, the cruiser has the expected deep-V underwater shape, with a standard installation of twin Cummins VT8-370s, giving a top speed of 35 mph and a cruising speed of 31. Fuel capacity is 600 gallons in two aluminum tanks just aft of the engines.

According to the company, Ford turbine power is also available, resulting in a predicted 12% performance increase and a weight reduction of about a ton. If that's not enough, then consider the optional twin Lycoming TF 12A gas turbines which will cruise the vessel at over 70 mph. "This configuration," remarks company President Elton M. Cary, "requires a very special interior."

The standard layout isn't at all bad for a boat of this style, which tends to slight accommodations. Compared to Renato Levi's Dragon (MB&S, February '72), the arrangements are sophisticated indeed.

Standard equipment is most extensive, and the boat is also available as a sportfisherman with a flying bridge. The regular—if that's the word—cruiser is $110,000, and the fisherman is $135,000. Write the builder for more information.

All-New Chilton Fun Appliances come alive without batteries

Perking! Blending! Mixing! Popping-up! Plenty of action in these four new toys. Completely safe. Powered by strong friction motors—they really work. Simple hand operation to fit and fascinate any 3-to-12-year-old. (And for grown-up appeal—no batteries needed—no heat required.)

The Kiddy-Matic™ "Action" toaster, percolator, mixer and blender are designed to look, work, even sound like the real thing. The percolator actually perks without heat, making "coffee" from Kool-Aid® or Funny Face.® The toaster has an "automatic timer" that pops up two slices of plastic "toast." The blender and the mixer both look like their grown-up versions—and they actually work, while giving off easy-on-the-ears sound effects

Colorful, durable and safe, these well-designed toys are available in five Chilton action sets.

'72 Lo-Profiles from Chrysler

Fantastically light. Fantastically dependable. Specially engineered for fishermen. Chrysler Lo-Profile outboards, 6 to 12.9 hp give you 360° of boat over which to drop your line. Or you can tow a lightweight youngster on skis with a 12.9 or 9.9. Both portable powerhouses come in manual or Autolectric models that generate accessory power, charge the battery and turn on when you turn the key. Chrysler cuts the weight of an 8 to below fifty pounds, and the 6 is the lightest, quietest, lowest-profile outboard going in its class. These outboards stow anywhere, go anywhere. Shallow water drives will quietly move you in anything over six inches of water. Contoured leg shrugs off weeds. Fantastic standard features: full gearshift, anti-pollution fuel recycling system, easy remote-control adaptation, fold-up-or-down tillers, stowaway 6-gallon Tote Tanks for fuel—and more. Get a fantastic deal from your Chrysler Crew dealer. Check the Yellow Pages for the one nearest you.

Vancouver, Milwaukee, and then east to Forest Hills. In Vancouver, I won the biggest title of my career, the Canadian Championship. But it was the whole atmosphere of the trip—the great people you met. I always hoped my kids would take to tennis, so that they'd have a chance to enjoy the same wonderful experiences the game opened up for me."

LATE August, two days before the start of Forest Hills, and one of those mornings when you first detect a faint whiff of autumn in the air, or like to think you do. Harry Hopman, driving down a side road in Port Washington, about twenty miles from Manhattan, swings onto the blacktop parking lot before the clustered buildings and the fourteen courts that form the campus of the Port Washington Tennis Academy. Hopman got back to the Academy only yesterday, after spending six weeks in Amherst running the Harry Hopman Tennis Camp plus another four weeks there co-running the Harry Hopman-Nick Bollettieri Tennis Camp. At sixty-six, he looks the same as ever: same pale-blue eyes, same shining pinkish skin, same sandy hair. Same youthful figure, too, which is no more than one expects of the man who practically invented the concept of training hard for tennis. As he walks through the crowded lounge of the Academy's main building, a middle-aged man compliments him on his trimness. "I got up to a hundred and fifty pounds last winter and I had to do something about it," Hopman replies, with a pleased smile. "Up in Amherst, I lost the first four pounds doing situps. And then I missed so many meals my belt went from thirty-four to thirty-one. When I weighed myself yesterday, the scales ticked over at one thirty-six."

Hopman makes his way to an indoor court, where his associate, Hy Zausner, the founder of the Academy, is beginning the onerous chore of testing five hundred and fifty of a total of seven hundred junior players—eighteen and under—enrolled for the 1971-72 season, in order to determine what class they belong in: Intermediate, Advanced, or one of the five different levels into which the top class, the Junior Championship Program, is divided. (The remaining hundred and fifty juniors are Beginners and don't need to be looked at.) Hopman and Zausner confer briefly, Zausner turns the job of testing over to one of the Academy's professionals, and he and Hopman retire to a relatively quiet office to discuss their plans for the upcoming term. ANTENNA SPECIALISTS

The most powerful marine radio transmitter is of little use unless its power is radiated by a well tuned, well matched antenna, properly mounted and located. This company specializes in efficient marine antennas and accessories for low band (2-3MHz), VHF (156-162 MHz), and CB (27 MHz). Particularly interesting are the new 5′ and 10′ VHF extension masts for increased VHF communication range.

The Antenna Specialist Co., 12435 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, Ohio 44106

BARBERTON

The company continues with its popular Fendaire line of boat fenders and dock absorbers along with a line of utility fenders. One change is that both Fendaire and Utiliry are offered in the Neva-Mar line which is a special treatment making them impervious to soiling. Also, for the first time, the economy fenders will be available in colors.

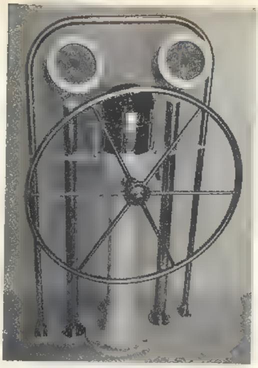
Barberton Plastics Prods. Co., 65 Robinson Ave., Barberton, Ohio 44710

DOCKER MARINE

Flexible vinyl ventilators in many configurations and sizes are supplied, with prices ranging from about $10 to $50. Docker also makes a heavy duty boat cleaning brush, a patented boat hook, and several kinds of dock bumpers and fenders.

Docker Marine, 350 Gate 5 Rd., Sausalito, Calif. 94965

YACHT SPECIALTIES



The company points out that pedestal steering, always popular on big sailing yachts, is finding its way onto boats as small as 24′. Advantage is that the already cluttered cockpit is cleared of the dominating tiller. The pedestal steerer also eliminates the tiller extension found on most beamy boats. To fill the need, Yacht Specialities furnishes pedestal steerers of many sizes and styles. All are in the catalog.

Yacht Specialties Co., 1630 Pomona Ave., Costa Mesa, Calif. 92627

THURSTON SAILS

"Skill is the secret in sailmaking," states Thurston, "and we think we make a good sail. Seams and edges are evenly sewn with close zig-zag stitching, and all sail slide shackles are lined with plastic chafing guards. Our batten pockets are self-closing; and we use diagonal reinforcement at clew and tack for even fabric stretch without wrinkles."

Thurston Sails Inc., 406-408 Water St., Warren, R.I. 02885

VDO

Sumlog, VDO's best known instrument, is a marine speedometer incorporating a totalizing log which shows distance run. Available in Yachtsman and Deluxe Models, the instrument is offered with the following top speeds, in knots; 10, 15, 20, 30, 45. A typical complete Sumlog installation costs something under $150. Other VDO instruments include tachometers, pressure gauges, volt and ammeters, clocks, and a rudder angle indicator.

VDO Instruments, 116 Victor, Detroit, Mich., 48203

NAUTICAL DEVELOPMENT

Here is hardware and widgetry dear to the heart of the racing sailboat skipper. There's a hydraulic backstay adjuster that locks correct tension on the backstay and will not leak down or slacken. Rodluff furling gear for quick jib handling is offered, as are spinnaker net slides and spreader rollers. There is also seagoing tape, captain's hooks, an a mast bale halyard organizer. Naturally, rigging rollers and turnbuckle boots are included. The range of new products for '72 goes from a double footblock with cut-off at $225 to Naut-Ecol, a bio-degradable bilge cleaner at $2.98 for a pint bottle.

Under Way with the USPS

by Robert A. Green

Boating Is Fun. Safe Boating Is More Fun.

Are you responsible for damage caused by your boat's wake? Is it wise for a small-boat operator to insist on his right of way over a large ship? In close quarters, can a disabled boat be controlled better if lashed alongside rather than brought in on a long tow line? Does a sailboat under power and sail have any special privileges? Does a buoy or light always indicate danger? Are all chart depths given in fathoms? Is a whistle required on a Class A motorboat? May lights be omitted if a boat trailer is used only in daylight? Generally speaking, should a vessel headed downstream in a river be given the right-of-way? Is compass deviation the same on all boats in the same general area?

If you were among the estimated 50,000 students who recently completed the new Boating Course, which was offered without charge by the 407 units of the United States Power Squadrons, you know the correct answers to these questions and hundreds of others as well.

You have learned something about the skipper's responsibilities and the boat's limitations. You have a better understanding of boat handling in heavy seas and poor visibility. You know the fundamentals of fueling, towing, radio-distress calls and marlinespike seamanship. You know the importance of relative directions, right-of-way, and sound signals.

If you did all your homework and passed the USPS exam, you recognize the types of aids used in daylight, in dark and in thick weather conditions. You know the basics of the compass, the meaning of TVMDC and the necessity of applying variation and deviation to a true course in order to steer a correct compass course. You now know light identification and the various classes of boats, the 24-hour time system, the local, state and United States regulations. You can make use of a course plotter and figure out the problems involving time, speed and distance. You can label your course correctly and determine your estimated time of arrival.

If you are a trailer boatman, you now have a knowledge of trailer construction and equipment. You understand loading, laws, road operation, launching, hauling-out, maintenance and storage. You know the recommended tongue weight and the importance of crossed safety chains, minimum hitch-ball size, tire pressure, drain plugs, tie-downs and winches

If you do most of your boating on rivers, you have learned that the fastest current is normally on the outside of a bend. You know that an anchor should be prepared for instant use so that it may serve as an emergency brake. You realize that a line used in locking should be at least twice the depth of a lock.

If you were among the 50,000 men, women and children who recently completed the USPS Boating Course in Caldwell, New Jersey; San Francisco, California; Dallas, Texas; Chicago, Illinois or any one of 400 other locations throughout the United States and abroad, you have learned the basics of boating and will be a safer and happier skipper because of your knowledge.

In 1865, poet-philosopher Ralph Waldo Emerson wrote, "If a man has good corn, or wood, or boards, or pigs to sell, or can make better chairs or knives, crucibles, or church organs, than anybody else, you will find a broad, hard-beaten road to his house, tho it be in the woods."

The United States Power Squadrons has provided free boating instructions to more than two million people to date, and judging from the enrollment of the recently completed Boating Course, the road to USPS education is becoming broader and more hard-beaten every year.

If, for one reason or another, you were unable to take the new USPS Boating Course, you should plan on taking the next series of courses which begin in September in most parts of the country. For information on the course location nearest you, USPS has set up a toll-free telephone number which may be called 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The number is 800-243-6000 (except in Connecticut where it is 800-882-6500). Ask the special operator for information on free boating instructions offered by the United States Power Squadrons.

For those of you who haven't taken the USPS Boating Course, the answers to the ten questions asked in the beginning of this article are as follows: yes, no, yes, no, no, no, no, no, yes, no.

Take the USPS Boating Course. Boating is fun. Safe boating is more fun. ⚓

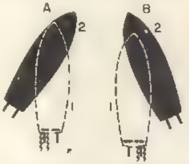
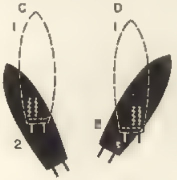
twin-screw craft, straight forward motion can be maintained by such use of opposite rudder, and even turns made against the side-setting effect of the single off center thrust; this is most easily done at low engine power output and may be impossible at normal rpms.

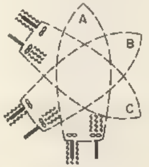


Applying reverse power to one shaft only results in backing down and turning the stern to the side. If the port propeller is reversed, the stern goes to the opposite direction, starboard, with a slight movement of the bow to port. With the starboard propeller reversed, the stern goes to port and the bow to starboard.



The "side effects" of the two preceding paragraphs may be summarized for easy recall as follows: (1) Going ahead on one engine swings the stern out from the centerline on that side; (2) going astern on one side swings the stern in toward the center from that side.

Undoubtedly the most spectacular maneuver of a twin-screw boat is that of turning in its own length without gaining either headway or sternway. It is probably done by skippers more often to show off than for any reason of need—but when needed, it can be of great value. Actually the maneuver is done very simply and easily—the skipper puts one engine ahead and the other in reverse; power is applied at about a "fast idle" level and regulated between the two throttles so that the boat gains neither headway nor sternway unless a bit of one or the other is desired. With many craft, the rudders can be centered and ignored throughout the turning action. With other boats, the turn may be possible without rudder action but is much more easily accomplished if the steering wheel is rotated in the direction of the turn. Each skipper should determine the characteristics of his boat by actual trials on a calm body of water without wind or currents and with a large enough area to allow for "learner's mistakes" without damage. With



The new Crestliners:

50 mph for you. Tangerine, cranberry and teak for her.

The new Crestliners are here now. You'll spot them by the new Deep-Vee hull. Jim Wynne designed the Crestliner Crusader series so you know they're high-performance hulls. The 23-footer, shown, handles with amazing ease and will hit up to 50 mph with twin 165-horsepower engines. Other engine options are available, single or twins. And wait 'til you see our new 17- and 19-foot Crestliner Crusaders. Same Jim Wynne fiberglass hull. Same comfortable, dry ride. These new boats are ideal for water skiing, fishing and all-around family fun. Your wife will agree. Just take her aboard. If the tangerine, cranberry and teak cabin interior doesn't convince her, the optional galley will. Other options include: a camper top, head, stern seats, bunk cushions and teak ladder.

Want to hear more? See your Crestliner quality runabout dealer. And while you're in, pick up a copy of our new booklet just for her: "A Woman's Viewpoint to Boating." She may learn something. (You might, too.)

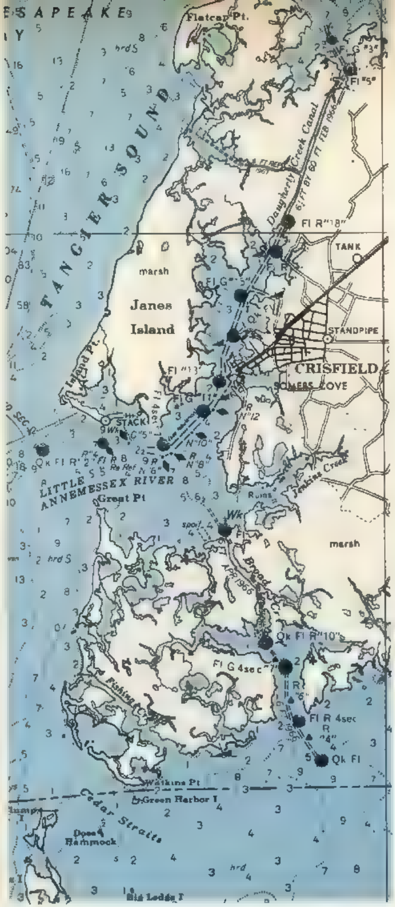
ports of call

CRISFIELD, MARYLAND:

Where they "shipped out the oysters and lived on the shells"



Crisfield is only a short distance up the Little Annemessex River from Tangier Sound. It is easily approached from Chesapeake Bay from either the north via Kedges Straits (or Big Thorofare right through Smith Island, a most interesting passage), or from the south directly into the Sound from the Bay. Channels have adequate depths for all recreational craft and are well-marked.

It had been 37 years since my husband, as a boy, visited Crisfield with his father—back in the days when the train ran right through the center of town all the way down to the wharf. The train no longer runs through the town, but Crisfield has otherwise changed very little.

This nostalgia of boyhood memories—plus a rather-too-stiff breeze on Chesapeake Bay—prompted us to head for an overnight stop in Crisfield rather than going straight on to Norfolk. The easy, slow pace of life there captured us immediately and we found ourselves spending four days in this delightfully interesting port.

In 1868 the Eastern Shore Railway built a long trestle out over the low marshes to deep water. Here the steamers loaded freight and passengers for Baltimore and Norfolk. Through the years, millions of bushels of oysters were shucked here in shacks built on pilings on either side of the tracks, and the shells became made-land on which the port city was developed, first filling in beneath the trestle and then extending out under the packing sheds. It is said that the Crisfieldians "shipped out the oysters and lived on the shells."

The local marina, Somers Cove, is excellent! The channel has a controlling depth of 10 feet, and once inside you have complete shelter and protection. The facilities are among the very finest and cleanest that we have visited anywhere. There is a weather station, restrooms, showers, a laundromat, restaurant (I recommend their crab cake sandwich), bar, gift shop, and a small ship's store at the marina. Dockage was reasonable and there are 140 slips to accommodate yachts up to 125 feet in length.

The town is but a short walk from the marina, and there you not only have all the usual stores, but you can buy fresh vegetables right off local farms, plus crabs and oysters direct from the packing houses that line the canal into the marina.

Carvel Hall, a noted producer of fine cutlery, is located three miles outside of town; it's just a 75¢ taxi ride from your boat. Here you can purchase "seconds" for ⅓ of the original price, and "thirds" at even greater reductions—terrific bargains! I picked up fine steak knives for 10¢ apiece and carving sets at a mere fraction of their nominal price; it's a good place to stock up on Christmas and wedding presents. (There, my secret's sacrificed to the higher calling of the Muse.) The "seconds" are hardly distinguishable from perfect, and the "thirds" are fully usable even if slightly marred or flawed.

The local library is unique. In what other library would you find the ashes of the benefactress keeping quiet and order? Lillyan Corbin, a beautiful but poor local belle who ran away from home and married a wealthy foreigner, was later killed in an automobile accident. Her husband returned her body to her beloved Eastern Shore; she was cremated, and her urn of ashes now serenely watches over the local library patrons from a niche in the west wall.

The Ward Brothers, noted for their realistic wood carvings, have their small studio at the edge of town. Their duck and geese decoys are collectors' items.

This port is the "mother town" for the isolated islanders who live on Tangier and Smith Islands. It is to Crisfield that they come for supplies, to sell their crabs and oysters, and where their children attend high school. An interesting walk from the marina leads down to the end of Main Street for the arrival or departure of the daily mail boat from these islands.

Don't miss Crisfield on your trip up or down the Chesapeake! It's a unique town from its "downtown" main street to its library—good food and interesting shopping. ⚓

CABIN FEVER.

New Kind. A highly contagious enthusiasm has developed across Cruisers' Inc. land. It started with something called Mack Clubs. It gives a feeling of well-being that's easy to get, hard to lose. Now it's spreading and Commodore Clubs are starting. Mackinac and Commodore are two of the most popular cabin cruisers in the land. Fans of these boats started it. Spontaneous. We call it cabin fever.

Mackinac 22′ is 6 years in our line, with refinements, improvements, subtleties added each succeeding year. Perhaps the most unique boat of its size...and in its price range of any production boat in or around America. Completely versatile: camp overnight, water ski, fish, cruise? Bought by users of good judgment, owned with pride by devotees of the joys of boating.

Commodore 25′ is new for 1972, but planned for 3 years. Production for this year is already committed to Cruisers' Inc. dealers. We are not likely to satisfy the demand for this boat for years to come. Chest-thumping? No. Dealers are already selling this top boat in the line in unprecedented numbers. If this is your class, we recommend you see him now. It may not be available by spring.

Write for our full-line literature. It describes these boats and 14 others in clinical detail. It'll help you to diagnose what your body and spirit needs in the way of a boat. We warn you that it might be contagious. But we know lots of happy patients with Cabin Fever.

Maybe it's time to join the...

excellent hors d'oeuvres at cocktail time.

Later that evening she caught a nice trout, good for breakfast, and a mud shark, only good for curiosity. A fun evening.

For this trip, Mary Lu and I were sleeping on the double bed formed across the engine hatches at the back of the cabin, and Sharon and Bertha took the single upper and lowers in the forward stateroom. Very satisfactory, and we all slept like logs.

The next day, the fifth of June, we awoke to one of those really breathtaking—and rare—Alaskan days with absolutely clear skies, warm air, no wind, and flat seas.

We departed Spacious Bay around the other side of Square Island (one of the rules of cruising—never backtrack when there is new water to part) and turned into Yes Bay. A very nice fishing lodge is at the head of the bay; we took a slow turn by it, then back to the Behm Canal.

The next point of interest was the Bell Island Hot Springs resort. I had planned to take on fuel there, so we tied to the float and were promptly met by the manager. Bad news! Their fuel line had ruptured, and so had the replacement, so we were out of luck for fuel. "That's OK," I thought. "My 120-gallon capacity is more than enough for this cruise." But I did mentally plan to cruise on just one engine at a time from then on.

We were interested to find that the manager remembered our Owens from earlier visits, the previous owner had told me she had made the Seattle to Alaska trip some six times.

The swimming pool had just been cleaned and filled, so Mary Lu, Sharon and I decided to take a dip in their famous hot waters. The natural water is too hot for swimming, so they cool it by mixing it with glacial stream water. I guess the mix was off, because it was just barely warm, not hot as we had hoped. But still enjoyable.

The small son of one of the workers bubbled over to tell us that Roy Rogers and Dale Evans were due in soon! He had never seen one of their movies, and didn't really know who they were, but was thrilled anyhow. This resort is owned by Alaska Airlines, and we watched while two of their Grumman Goose amphibians brought the Rogers and several lesser Hollywood personalities in for a visit.

Leaving the resort, we headed northeast up the Behm Narrows, took a sharp right around Point Whaley and headed southeast down a long straight stretch of the canal which averages a mile and a half in width. There are mountains on either side, some over four thousand feet high. The weather was still perfect, so Sharon slipped into her bikini and sunbathed on the roof.

We pulled into Walker Cove about suppertime, and since we had already been underway for seven hours, decided not to do any more sightseeing that evening—even if the sun wasn't going to set for another five hours!

The Pilot didn't recommend any anchorage other than a rather deep water one at the entrance, so we scouted our own in a bay on the south side. Baited hooks went over the side, but no fish that night.

Walker Cove and Rudyerd Bay are designated a "Scenic Area" on the Tongass National Forest Map, and the hachures and contour lines on the nautical charts showed numerous sheer cliffs, some rising over 4000 feet, and many many waterfalls. Although all our cruise was through beautiful waterways, Walker Cove had been our real destination—here was one of the finest fiords in North America. (Norway doesn't really have a monopoly on them, you know.)

So breakfast was a little earlier than usual, and we took a very leisurely tour of the Cove's full seven mile length. It varied in width from about a mile, around the bay we anchored in, to a narrow of about 600 yards. Water depths were rarely less than 300 feet, and sometimes nearly 1000.

Our cloudless sky of yesterday was disappearing, but the

THE MARINE BATTERY

To many boat owners, their marine battery is a complete mystery. Few know how it works, still fewer care so long as it keeps working. When the battery goes dead, they have it recharged. If it can't be recharged, then it's replaced.

Batteries are relatively inexpensive, but preventive maintenance is even cheaper. Given scant attention, a marine battery may last out its average warranty of 24 months. But given proper care and service, the same battery could last eight years or more. Sound impossible? It's not. All it takes is a few minutes of service each month with no special know-how or costly tools.

The "Wet" Battery

Your marine battery operates the same way as the battery in your car. Internally reinforced to withstand hull vibration, the marine battery doesn't store electricity, but produces it through chemical action. How much electricity the battery produces depends on the number and size of its plates and the amount of chemical solution it contains.

Marine lead-acid batteries are "wet," that is, they contain a liquid substance called an electrolyte (60% water, 40% sulfuric acid). In simplified terms, current is produced by the electrolyte solution reacting between two dissimilar metals—the negative and positive plates of the battery.

When the battery discharges (produces current), a thin coating of lead sulfate forms on the surface of both negative and positive plates. As the battery produces more and more electrical current, more and more of the lead sulfate is deposited until finally the plates are clogged. If no charging current came in during this period, the negative and positive plates would turn to lead sulfate—a substance that won't react with sulfuric acid to produce more of everything you've ever wanted in a low-cost family fun-boat!

Versatile! That's the word for Sportyak. Pack it on a car-top. Carry it easily to shore. Then take to the water and do your thing! Row it. Power it. Sail it. Drop a line way out deep or cast for big ones close to shore. Go swimming, surfing, scuba diving. Shoot at ducks or shoot the rapids. Stow it aboard a cruiser as a dinghy/lifeboat.

You can do it all in a Sportyak. With stability and safety afloat; not a care in the world about upkeep. Because Sportyaks are made of tough, durable polyethylene. Virtually indestructible and completely maintenance-free. No cracking, peeling or fading. No scraping, caulking or painting. And they're available now in three basic models, priced to fit any budget—from as low as $110. Plus optional accessories to suit all sports.

Drift-R-Cruz

Two critics review a best seller-The Drift-R-Cruz 35'

Editorial Excerpts:

She has several features which will endear her to any skipper, most notably the locations and arrangement of the control stations, particularly the flying bridge which is far enough forward for excellent visibility and yet far enough aft to provide a frame of reference for easy steering..

I've got a wife…who, after we so-called experts finished dissecting the Drift-R-Cruz from bow to transom steps, simply said she thought the boat was great. She liked the arrangement of the entire interior, the master stateroom, the storage, the galley layout (and the electric cooking) and she especially liked (as did the kids) the so-called kiddie cabin under the deckhouse.

The remainder of the interior is indeed excellently and intelligently planned, as you'd expect from the troops at Pacemaker.

On our Drift-R-Cruz, six people could have slept alone, and eight in all could have been berthed, not counting putting three in the kiddie cabin.

In design and arrangement, the boat is a houseboat, but her engineering and construction show considerable cruiser influence. This is all to the good, for hopefully, the day has forever passed when a builder could build a box, flop a mobile home on top and call it a houseboat. Pacemaker's Drift-R-Cruz exemplifies, perhaps, a new trend to solidity, reliability, and, you should pardon the word, safety in houseboating.

General Comments:

"When we conceived the Primus series as sort of an underwater James Bond adventure show, we knew we had to give our hero a unique base of operations…a very different sort of on-the-water laboratory.

Houseboats seemed like a fresh answer. We picked the Drift-R-Cruz on three counts.

First, it offered inboard power and real cruiser handling. That, we needed because Primus is strictly a salt water adventurer.

Second, what was around that was photogenic? Our lensmen wanted believable styling…solid aesthetics, not some hog-of-a-boat that looked like the toy of a Greek shipping magnate.

Remember, Primus is a young scientist-type.

Well, we also wanted a houseboat with enough inside so that we wouldn't have to blow the whole production budget on props and the like. The Drift-R-Cruz had a pretty nice set-up that way. In fact, the airplane-type overhead instrument panel added some real flair to the helm.

After we got going with the first couple of shooting sessions, every man in the camera crew wanted a crack at the wheel, even the guys who lived on dramamine.

And I've got to admit, I kind of had fun with the boat, too. It really does handle more like a cruiser than a houseboat.

miles away, was a large vessel, and coming toward us, just barely visible, was a very small boat seemingly loaded with people.

Though our relief was indescribable, we also were tinged with disappointment. With all those people, we wouldn't be allowed to take anything! Our sailbags, crammed full with practical and sentimental gear would have to be left behind

As the gig slowly climbed the curve of the horizon and came closer, it grew bigger and we could see it contained an officer, several seamen and at least four frogmen dressed in wet suits with SCUBA tanks by their sides. It was a large, inboard-powered rescue boat and there was plenty of room.

By now, 4½ feet of water covered the coral heads and the gig was able to come alongside Tormentor's starboard hull. Our minds were bewildered by this sudden change of pace. From dire thoughts of our ship breaking beneath us, to being rescued! 1400 hours? 2:00 in the afternoon? It was just barely 9:30 a m ! It was then that we realized that all Navy business is conducted in Zulu, or Greenwich time, five hours later in the day than our time. We also learned that the Petrel had been radioing Miami Coast Guard to affirm they'd sighted our masts from the opposite side of the low island and had been steaming full speed the nine mile length to come to us.

The half-dozen bags of brand new sails . . . the rest of our navigation gear, our books and family momentoes, whatever wasn't submerged we could have saved. But our one aim was to scramble off and we never gave a thought to what else we could have taken until days later.

We were put in the stern of the gig, our baggage scattered about us. Bob, sitting on top of one sailbag, stonily kept his head facing forward, but Timmy and I looked aft. What a feeling to leave behind our beloved ship, not a scar showing, looking so beautifully new.

So close to the surface was my anguish that my tears, if that's what they were, gathered in a great ball of pain in my throat, but I did not cry. I did what I'd been doing all night long while sloshing below collecting things and wondering if the ocean surge would finally break us up; I clamped my jaws together and kept telling myself "It's not all over . . . it's not all over . . . thank God for insurance companies!"

We had her covered for $30,000, slightly less than half her actual value. Not enough for another luxurious Tormentor II "But enough for another boat!" I kept savagely telling myself.

At midnight that evening, the Petrel unceremoniously dropped us off at Grand Turk Island and we took the first plane out of there for Miami and thence to Montreal. Upon our return we assured everyone that not for one moment did we have any doubts we wouldn't gather together the broken threads and continue with our dream. It was a setback, but only that, and we hoped not for long.

My magnificent brother, who had so diligently worked on finding someone who would insure a trimaran, worked just as hard with his claims department to get a prompt settlement and in the incredibly short time of six weeks, we had a $30,000 check in our hands! For $100 we bought a beat-up old stationwagon and gunkholed our way south, poking into marinas and boatyards looking for Tormentor III and at Dinner Key, Miami, on April 14, 1969 we found her—a ten-year-old, 40-foot Newporter ketch.

"I christen thee Tormentor III: may God watch over thee and all who sail with you around the world. . . ." ⚓

EVINRUDE

Evinrude just put a lot more fun in a lot less space.

The classic way to make a motor more powerful is to make it bigger.

Now there's a better way.

Evinrude has discovered how to make outboards more powerful by making them cleaner and smaller and more efficient. By doing things nobody knew how to do a few years ago.

Our new Evinrude 50 is exhibit A.

It's loop-charged — so the pistons don't have deflector humps and the combustion chamber doesn't have to be shaped to accommodate them.

It re-cycles and burns the fuel condensate that once drained overboard.

Lower unit shape and gearing are computer-matched to the power curve of the motor. You get more power at every speed — and you get more speed.

You get more of everything — from power shifting to Firepower ignition.

More of everything — except size.

We call it Triumph. Now everybody knows why.

As the first multi-cylinder, water cooled engine with loop-charging, it was an engineering triumph.

So that's what we called it. Triumph.

Then, as a stock engine, it set speed records in its own class and the next class up. Triumph again.

Now, it has become our most popular motor outselling even the small fishing motors. Another triumph

For 1972, we've added 5 more horses to give you a "65" with the compact size and impressive fuel economy of last year's "60"

And we gave it Evinrude's newest Firepower electronic ignition.

Underwater, its external shape and internal gearing are computer-matched. To each other and to the powerhead.

Out front, key-turn starting and power shifting add convenience and elegance to the excitement.

This year, the Triumph is a 65.

And the new Evinrude 65 is yet another triumph.

of any PR program and a tremendous variety of "professional" releases are provided—along with a wide range of other PR material and samples—in the public relations kit which is provided and updated for all Squadron Public Relations Officers by the National USPS PR Committee. Thousands of hours went into the preparation of these kits and they contain a wealth of PR information and instructions.

Publicity in national magazines and newspapers provides a great amount of additional help to local Squadrons, and USPS continuously endeavors to reach the boating public through America's largest circulation publications. To cite some examples of this PR program, in 1971, the free USPS Boating Course was featured in Boating, Parade, Sports Illustrated and many other magazines including Motor Boating & Sailing.

If 100 million citizens read newspapers and magazines regularly, 190 million watch television almost hypnotically, which brings up another USPS PR program involving regional and local television. In February 1971, in cooperation with the United States Power Squadrons' public relations and educational committees, New York's Channel 4 (WNBC-TV) produced a series of 10 one-half hour color shows titled "Boating With The Power Squadron." The series briefly covered the basics of the new USPS Boating Course and featured 20 USPS instructors, who provided lectures with accompanying teaching aids, slides and film. The series was so successful that WNBC-TV recently rebroadcast it for the third time beginning 12:30 p.m. on January 9, 1972, and every Sunday thereafter for ten consecutive weeks. In addition, WNBC-TV presented a master set of the series to USPS—along with the permission to offer it to all TV stations in the country. Needless to say, the Power Squadron series has been shown continuously throughout the nation ever since and this, together with increased local TV exposure, is bringing publicity on USPS educational activities to additional millions of Americans.

National publicity is all well and good if it provides benefits on the local level and in order to insure these benefits, the USPS PR Committee established a toll-free telephone number which provides information on USPS Boating Courses throughout the nation, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Referred to as the Operator 800 program, information on class locations and starting dates can now be obtained anywhere in the USA by calling toll-free 800-243-6000. (In Conn. only the number is 800-882-6500.) All National and District publicity include these numbers and they are featured at the end of each of the ten TV shows mentioned above. If you intend to call the number, simply ask for information on the free Boating Course offered by the United States Power Squadrons. The special operator will provide all the information you need.

If space permitted, an additional ten PR programs could easily be added to those already listed in this column—including Certificates of Appreciation, Commanders Cup Competition, Headquarters Liaison and such special projects as that which produced the full page complimentary USPS advertisement which appears in the 1972 Sears, Roebuck Fishing and Boating Catalog which is now being mailed to more than one and one-half million sportsmen. An entire column could be devoted to the efforts and accomplishments of the USPS Districts in providing the outstanding USPS exhibits and materials which are presented to the boating public at the numerous boat shows which are held annually throughout the country. A book could be written on the full range of USPS PR activities and results.

Education is the light that never fails, and the primary objective of the USPS PR Committee is to attract as many boating enthusiasts to that light as possible. To put it in the words of a USPS PR man, "Our business is education; our goal is more business." ⚓

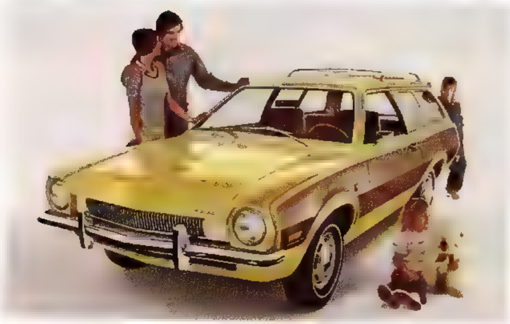
Variations on a basic Pinto.



Ford Pinto Wagon: Rugged 2,000cc engine, front disc brakes and over 60 cubic feet of cargo space. (VW Squareback and Vega Kammback have only about 50.) The picture shows the Squire Option, plus luggage rack, whitewall tires and bumper guards.

Fresh orange, anyone? Pinto's Sports Accent group has bright new color accents like orange or avocado, with matching interiors and vinyl roofs. And steel-belted radial-ply white sidewall tires for long mileage.

The Sunshine Pinto: Our new easy-opening, solid-closing sun roof comes at a remarkably low price. It's shown above on a stylish little 3-Door Runabout, with vinyl roof and luxury decor options.

Better idea for safety... buckle up!

Red, white and blue! The new Sprint Option includes this racy color scheme, inside and out. Plus dual racing mirrors and white sidewall tires.

Ford Pinto comes in a lot of different variations. But the basic theme is always the same: solid, sensible, and economical.

FORD PINTO

FORD DIVISION Ford

We built our Ford Torino to be the best 4-door value in the mid-size field.

Check it out.

Only Ford Motor Company completely redesigned its mid-size cars for 1972.

Ford Torino's all-new suspension and body frame construction produce an unusually smooth, quiet ride. With remarkably easy handling.

You'll find our 4-door models are sticker priced no higher than our 2-door models.

We redesigned them, too, as Pillared Hardtops. This adds structural support as well as precise door and window fit.

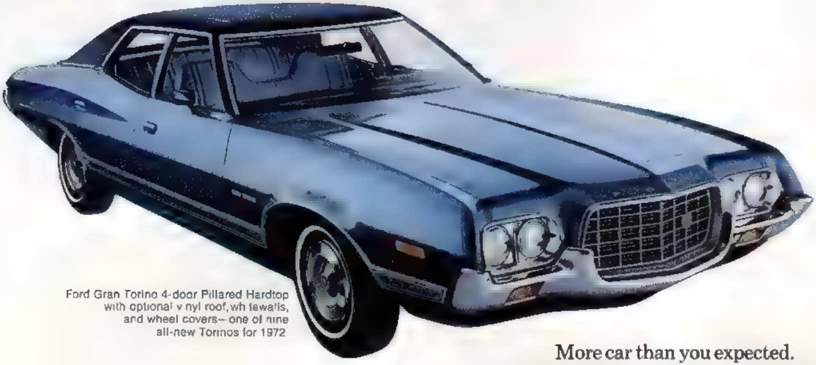
And since the 4-door wheelbase is longer, you get more room, more comfort.

The experts at Motor Trend Magazine checked out the four-door Torino and gave it their "Sedan of the Year" award.

As a matter of fact, most people who check out Torino like it.

This year it's outselling every other car in the mid-size field—bar none.

Check it out yourself. At your Ford Dealer's.



Ford Gran Torino 4-door Pillared Hardtop with optional vinyl roof, whitewalls, and wheel covers—one of nine all-new Torinos for 1972

More car than you expected.

GRAND BANKS

Dependable Diesel Cruisers

The biggest little ship

The Grand Banks 50 is the largest vessel of her size you'll find! She has more luxurious space in which to live than any other 50 footer on the market. Her 20'3" long by 11'7", on deck, main saloon is the heart of her accommodation plan. Add to this, up to four private, double berth staterooms, private owners head with tub and shower, and two additional heads, each with shower, and you have a big boat in anyone's language.

. . . . and these are "go places" accommodations. The GB50 is an offshore cruiser of the first order. With her 59,300 lb. displacement and long, deep keel on a draft of 5 feet, she is built to go to sea. Her dependable, twin diesel engines will cruiser her a full 1500 miles without refuelling!

You can find out more about Grand Banks dependable diesel cruisers at your American Marine Dealer. You're invited to see for yourself — the biggest little ship — the Grand Banks 50.

Everything you want...

...and a little bit more.

Glasspar '72 still gives you all the performance and styling that established it as a blue water leader—along with the strength and safety of Life/Guard Construction.

This year, we put a lot more styling and engineering into our interiors to give you a lot more boating pleasure—without a lot more cost.

New pilot and co-pilot seats that swivel, recline and conform to your body. A new wrap-around couch-type rear seat that fits the way you sit. New easy-to-read-and-reach instrument panel. New sunbather decks that really let you stretch out in the sun. Loads of useable storage space. And lots more.

Your Glasspar dealer is waiting to show them all to you. Be sure to see them.

Everything you want...

...and a little bit more.

Glasspar '72 still gives you all the performance and styling that established it as a blue water leader—along with the strength and safety of Life/Guard Construction.

This year, we put a lot more styling and engineering into our interiors to give you a lot more boating pleasure—without a lot more cost.

New pilot and co-pilot seats that swivel, recline and conform to your body. A new wrap-around couch-type rear seat that fits the way you sit. New easy-to-read-and-reach instrument panel. New sunbather decks that really let you stretch out in the sun. Loads of useable storage space. And lots more.

Your Glasspar dealer is waiting to show them all to you. Be sure to see them.

If you buy before you see Glasspar '72, you're missing the boat.

ington State coast they have routine Russian happenings. Fish boat Russians, freighter Russians, floating cannery Russians, warship Russians, and . . . well, around there nobody shouts: "The Russians are coming! The Russians are coming!" They say, "The Russians are here. Again."

The longshoremens' strike has provided an opportunity for North by Northwest seamen to gain insight into boating, Russian style. Discussion with Skipper Alexander Arnautov of the 545-foot Ocanes Tumanyan revealed the following: The vessel is just a year old and sparkling. She was waiting to offload 1,155 tons of steel and general cargo from Japan (come by steam to Portland) and then to reload with wood pulp, lumber, and animal food pellets for delivery in Japan. Following that, would head for home, Vladivostok.

Recreation for Russian seamen consists of 30 Russian language movies (carried aboard) plus such local TV and radio programs as can be picked up from the closest port. Chess, other games, and reading help pass the time. Crewmen play soccer on the docks, too although in clear weather and when necessary, the crew paints ship.

Pay per Russian seaman is about 200 rubles per month, or $222 American. Hours are 8 out of 24 and quarters, one man per space, are nicely furnished. Captain Arnautov, 37, commands a ship's company of 43, including 6 women. Five of the women are stewardesses, either serving meals or involved with cooking, one is the ship's doctor. By Russian standards, all seamen have a considerable earning power.

Asked whether women cause "trouble" aboard, the Captain solemnly said no, but added with Slavic twinkle, "We have been at sea only 70 days." Asked, simplistically, if all Russians drank Vodka, Arnautov grinned, then held his head, in a short but splendid mime of a hangover, and answered, "It's too strong!"

very cognizant of the relationship between science and music; a man of great musical taste." Scharf pointed to places in the score where he tailored the music for each individual exhibit in the museum. Yet, one is unaware of these sections when listening to a recording of the whole suite.

Walter Scharf has only been a boatowner for three years and is already deep in final refinements, prior to launching, of a larger one. The new Lady Betty II, designed by Don Burger and being built in Wilmington, California, is a 50 footer. Wherever Walter travels, he looks for special gear for his boat. He found a teak and chrome wheel, now installed on his present boat, in Scotland.

"I put a lot of hours on my boat, cruising up and down the coast and to Catalina. But with the bigger one, which will have a cruising range of 1,500 miles, I'll take vacations and go down to Baja California and other Mexican ports." When composing, he brings on board an electronic piano which folds up in a carrying case.

Walter's wife of 36 years, Betty, is a noted painter.

"When she does a picture for me it is usually a seascape," he announced proudly.

The Scharfs started their boating as guests on board the 37-foot cruiser of Walter's business manager. Bert Silverman, a commander in the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, introduced Walter to the Auxiliary program and sponsored him for membership in the South Coast Corinthian Yacht Club, located in Marina del Rey. Exclaimed Walter, "I took the Auxiliary course twice to be sure I hadn't missed anything." When he has the time, he uses his boat as a member of the Auxiliary flotilla, helping to keep spectator boats off the course during sailboat races and in search and rescue operations.

Walter decided he should know how a sailboat operated so he bought a 14-foot British-made catboat and learned how to handle it. Once he knew the fundamentals, he gave the boat to his son and grandson, who live in Phoenix, Arizona, and sail in the nearby reservoirs.

In the last few years, Scharf has turned more and more to writing scores for documentaries, including a number for the National Geographic series. "I'm trying to get away from the personal type show and writing instead of our natural elements." He just finished scoring Cousteau's soon-to-be released film on the manta ray, those huge, black and white, bat-winged "devil" or "blanket" fish which are found off the Mexican coast.

Scharf won an Emmy Award for composing, arranging, and conducting the music for "The Tragedy of the Red Salmon." He has had eight nominations for an Academy Award. His first symphonic work, "The Israeli Suite," was introduced on the Telephone Hour in 1946 and heard at the Hollywood Bowl under the baton of Leopold Stokowski with the Los Angeles Philharmonic. He is proud that his serious music is being played by university orchestras.

"Young people want to get into new things," he says. "That's why they turn to contemporary composers."

Born in New York, Scharf comes from three generations of musical families. He is a graduate of New York University and the Walter Damrosch Conservatory. He is now preparing for his doctorate in music. "You never stop studying new ways to put down music." His compositions range from classical and opera, through rock and country western. A few of his more recent scores for popular TV series were heard on episodes of "Mission Im-

THE GULFSTAR 43' TRAWLER YACHT

Meet the big sister to the rousingly successful 36' trawler yacht by Gulfstar. The center of attention wherever she has been seen, our 36' has demonstrated excellent performance in sea trials and has become popular beyond the most optimistic expectations.

The new 43' is also built on a sea-proven Gulfstar hull form and her lead ballast and long keel give the same sea-kindly, level ride that characterize the Gulfstar 36' trawler yacht.

A 53 footer will soon be in production to complete the Gulfstar trawler yacht series. Call or write for further details. Dealer inquiries invited.

their stand unchanged. At five, the Board of Estimate meeting was rescheduled for 9 P.M.

Meanwhile, James A. Smith, who had sent his family and friends home while he awaited developments, was sitting in a spare chair in a corner of the big City Council office room, where most councilmen have their desks, quietly reading a newspaper and ignoring the turmoil around him. All over the room, groups and subgroups of the two forces—pro-budget and anti-budget—were informally caucusing. Loping back and forth between one cluster of councilmen and another, playing the go-between, was the slight, blond figure of upper-East Side Councilman Carter Burden. Burden, a great-great-great-grandson of Commodore Vanderbilt, was voting with the pro-small-homeowner (and coöperative-apartment) forces. Surrounded by supporters, Troy leaned back in a chair between the leaded windows, gesticulating vigorously. At one point, he reached out a large, friendly arm and gathered in a passing Bronx councilman, Michael DeMarco, who had cast his lot with the Majority Leader. "There goes DeMarco," said a pro-budget man gloomily. Giant television lights were set up in corners of the room; they shone for a while, and everyone within their range tried to look statesmanlike. Radio reporters wandered from group to group with their tape recorders. "What are your chances, Mario?" one of them asked Mario Merola, the co-leader of the pro-budget contingent. Merola, a roly-poly man, gave a weighty shrug. "I can't put a shrug on the air, Mario," the reporter complained. At seven-thirty, when the councilmen went to dinner, Biondolillo left in the firm charge of two pro-Troy councilmen, one of them Postel "There goes Biondolillo," said a spy from the Mayor's office.

On his return from dinner, Biondolillo did indeed announce that he had changed his mind again. In Room 9, the A.P. man was saying into the phone for the third time that day, "No, Biondolillo. 'B' as in 'Baker,' 'I' as in 'Isaac' . . ." Later, the Staten Islander was seen coming out of Cuite's office, across from the pressroom. "It's probably the only time in history that a licensed dentist was offered a Criminal Court judgeship," Borough President Connor was quoted as saying.

Harbour Town. To some people, it's a marina. To others, it's low country quail, a vintage Mouton Rothschild and a birdie on eighteen.

If all you expect of Harbour Town is a hot shower, a few vending machines and some minor repairs, you're in for a surprise.

Harbour Town is nothing short of the most spectacular new boating and sailing resort on the Eastern Seaboard.

Of course, the Harbour Master maintains that the marine facility's the thing. He'll point with pride to the protected yacht basin. To the 60 floating slips that surround the harbor, each with 110-220V power and phone connections available. To the complete hull and engine repair services at nearby Palmetto Bay Marina.

But ask the golf pro what he thinks about Harbour Town and he'll tell you there's no finer golfing anywhere. One of the greatest annual events in golfing is played each Thanksgiving on the magnificent Harbour Town Links.

The head chef at the Plantation Club will convince you there's no finer cuisine. And the wine steward will introduce you to one of the most outstanding cellars on the East Coast.

But still there's more. Harbour Town's boutiques and galleries, for instance. Its charming walled-garden villas and new Cafe Calibogue. Four glorious miles of unspoiled beach. Three championship golf courses. Eight tennis courts. A transportation system and rental cars to get you where you want to go. And more.

You see, when you put in at Harbour Town, all of Sea Pines Plantation is yours.

He loathes red tape. He is happy to make decisions. He is bored with bureaucracy. He even gave a speech last November in which he cheerfully proposed that it might be advantageous for the United Nations if some of its proliferating departments were reduced in size by fifty per cent, and, instead of quoting some such conventional authority on the human experience as Plato, he quoted Pogo: "We have met the enemy and he is us."

Strong has never run a conference of any kind before, but he resolved from the beginning that if the one at Stockholm was to mean anything—and he had no intention of devoting a year and a half of his time to something that didn't—it would have to be not a mere ceremonial happening but a political process. To quote a favorite phrase of his, which he generally utters with a bow to his compatriot Marshall McLuhan, "The process is the policy." Strong wanted the assembled nations to make decisions at Stockholm, and, if they were going to do so, most of the research and recommendations would have to be taken care of well ahead of time. Also, the participating nations would have to be motivated to think in ecological terms. In this last respect, the auguries have been propitious: Nearly a hundred nations already have adopted at least one environmental law, and more than sixty either have environmental ministers in their Cabinets or have federal agencies of close to ministerial standing. Strong feels that action "is indispensable if man is going to deal on the scale required with the environmental problem," and he has organized the conference so that at the same time the plenary sessions—which will consist mostly of speeches—are taking place, three committees will be meeting to discuss, and perhaps to endorse, a series of specific proposals he has put together and that he calls the Action Plan. The proposals include, among others, the adoption of a Declaration on the Human Environment, a convention on ocean dumping, and the establishment of an earth-watch program to monitor the environment, to define crucial, universal environmental problems, and to set standards for measuring and compiling essential data. (When, for instance, a marine laboratory at Monaco not long ago sent identical samples of seawater to several other labs around the earth, their analyses were disconcertingly at odds.) Among still other subjects on the agenda will be the question of institutional arrangements yet to come. (Strong

The best typewriter for your home is the one we built for our office.

We're typewriter people. And like all other typewriter people, we've always made big, fancy-featured ones for offices and small, portable ones for homes.

Then we realized that in our own offices, the secretaries hardly ever used the fancy frills we put on their machines. And what they really needed was a typewriter that could do all the basic things well. Effortlessly. And was not too greedy on desk space.

So we built them just such a machine and then put it on the market for other offices.

And that's when we discovered we'd made the perfect family typewriter. For, to our amazement, our new office machines were being snapped up for the home.

Why? Partly because it takes a sturdy office machine to stand up to family life and the pounding of many different sets of fingers—some inexpert, some impatient, some over-emphatic. And partly because home-typists too can make use of all the office features (like tabulating, individual touch control, full 48-key keyboard, exclusive Flying Red Margins®.)

Best of all, the clever Swiss engineering that makes our typewriter just half the size of the usual office clunkers, also makes it about half the price. $315.

And of course our original home machine is still available—the popular, portable Hermes 3000 at $129.

If you only want to buy a typewriter once, buy a

HUCKINS
FAIRFORM FLYER
HUCKINS
the final step UP

It is rare that an owner's first boat is a Huckins. Most often he has owned several yachts before owning his first Huckins. It is equally rare that a Huckins owner would ever again own any yacht but a Huckins.

A Huckins costs more initially than production line yachts. Yet, she saves you money over the years in less down time and maintenance costs.

She gets you there faster and at less cost per mile no matter where you cruise. Her cruising lifespan is unknown, some of the first Fairform Flyers launched more than forty years ago are still giving their owners unsurpassed performance.

Huckins is the final step up . . . because no finer boat, no safer boat can be built.

the silent sandwich.

Many of the things that make Bertram Internationals the finest yachts afloat are ones you can't see.

One bright idea was the unique soundproof sandwich that forms our decks, cabin tops, cabin sides, and weatherboards.

The "bread" of the sandwich is two layers of 5-ply Philippine mahogany marine plywood. In between, there's a criss-cross framework, also of Philippine mahogany, which is an invisible masterpiece of joinerwork in itself.

Slabs of sound-deadening foam fill every one of the 12" x 18" spaces formed by the framework.

The assembled fiberglass-coated sandwich is covered on the underside with a special acoustical material with an attractive nubbie finish.

Used for the weatherboards, the sides of the deckhouse, the deckhouse top and hard top, and over the staterooms in the main deck itself, this exceptionally strong and lightweight construction effectively soaks up noise throughout the boat.

So when you want a little peace and quiet, go and take a nap. Or immerse yourself in Tolstoy's "War and Peace". It would take wild horses stampeding on the deck above to disturb you.

Discover more examples of the kind of owner-comfort thinking that goes into every Bertram International. Send $2 for your copy of Dick Bertram's own book, "The Deep Vee Story", with an introduction by Carleton Mitchell. In words and pictures it tells the whole story of the development of these superb high-performance luxury yachts. You can take it with you.

Now you can get more out of your vacation because you can get more into the INTERNATIONAL TRAVELALL [illegible] the largest conventional wagon.

The Travelall conquers [illegible] space with 124 cubic feet of room that lets you carry things up to [illegible] feet long and four feet wide.

But having room to spare [illegible] you get out of a Travelall. The Travelall is the wagon built to tow. Trailers. Boats. Campers. Houseboats. You name it [illegible] Travelall will tow it. And for good reasons.

Take the frame [illegible] tough as a truck. And the suspension system is stable [illegible] to help prevent fishtailing.

And the cooling system won't blow your vacation in the middle of nowhere, U.S.A.

And the engine [illegible] often goes further [illegible] the odometer.

And if you really want to get away from it all you can order all-wheel drive. Or, if you like traveling in style you can add luxury car options like air conditioning, power steering, power brakes and special upholstery.

Before you take your next vacation, visit your International dealer and test drive the Travelall. Once you do, you'll probably want to do what almost everybody wants to do after [illegible] a Travelall.

John Allmand boats come in many sizes, but they all have one thing in common. They give you much more boat than you reckoned for.

For example. Our 19's. Sleek, plush, and priced right. Nova and Jumper go all-purpose, from pleasure boating to serious racing competition.

Our 23's. Anything you want in a 23, from an economical series priced no higher than the other fellows' 19-footers, to a custom series that even offers a flybridge.

Our deep-V 25's. One of the few 25's you can trailer. And they can really take the rigors of trailering. Because like all Allmands, the 25's have a moulded fiberglass stringer system for extra strength.

Our 28's. They sleep six and offer as much interior room as a 31-footer—at the small price of a 28-footer.

John Allmand builds more into your boat, all right. More durability. Low maintenance. High performance. See the entire John Allmand line, including the great new "34," at your top local dealer. If you want more boat for your boat-buying dollar.

44' Kings Craft Home Cruiser

Some people really go for our Home Cruisers.

36' Kings Craft Coastal Cruiser

Some don't.

Many people prefer our new Coastal Cruisers. But whichever, we think you're going to find that the most boat for the money comes from Kings Craft. It's because we make four all-aluminum Home Cruisers and three all-aluminum Coastal Cruisers that are unlike anything else on the market.

Home Cruisers. All the comfort, luxury and spaciousness you'd expect on a houseboat, plus unexpected power, speed and maneuverability. Ranging from the 35-footer that sleeps six, to the 40-footer that accommodates 8 and has a shower and tub, to the 44-footer (shown; top) with its big Master Stateroom and Roman tub, right up to the gorgeous 55-footer with air conditioning and sleeping for 10. And they all feature electric refrigerator, installed custom drapes double stainless steel sinks, pressure water systems, and deep-pile carpeting as standard equipment

Coastal Cruisers. The speed, power and maneuverability you'd expect in a cruiser, plus unexpected comfort, luxury and spaciousness. Three beautiful styles: The Double Cabin (shown; lower), the Sedan, and Sport Fisherman. Sleeping for 6 to 8. All with large cabins, deep-pile carpeting, electric refrigerators, complete instrumentation, and custom drapes installed as standard equipment.

We're the fastest-growing boat company in America And we'd like to show you why. Start by writing for our new color brochure and price lists on the "leaderships." Kings Craft, P.O. Box 2306, Florence, Alabama 35630. Or phone (205) 764-5512.

THE EXCEPTIONAL STANDARD!

The Laguna 10 Metre has a standard equipment list that's far from standard.

Every Laguna comes equipped with her ultimate engines — 637 C.I.D. turbocharged diesel V8s. Her diesel driven 3 KW generator is standard equipment as is the Centrific-Air system that moves 2000 cubic feet of air through the engine room each minute. Her power-operated trim tabs. Ram rudders. Wide Y design with stabilizing keel and non-symmetrical planing strips. Hydro-Hush underwater exhaust extractors . . . all standard equipment.

Her full instrumentation including compass and both audible and visual warning systems. Her electric refrigeration, automatic ice-maker, hot and cold pressure water system, shower, all-electric cooking utensils, stereo tape player, fluorescent lighting . . . all standard equipment.

The Laguna has a laid teak cockpit sole, teak cabin paneling and trim, bow pulpit and life lines, full controls in the deck house duplicated on the flying bridge. And her exquisite upholstery fabrics, custom woven carpets, drinking glasses and complete china service . . . all are standard equipment.

But we've only told you part of the Laguna's story — she's also unspeakably beautiful and fantastically fast!

Craftsmanship in fibreglass — designed by Robert S. Dorris.
The new standard in standard equipment lists . . . the Laguna 10 Metre.

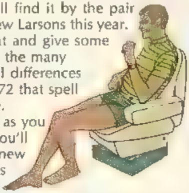
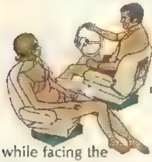
All boats are not created equal.

Sit down and think about it.

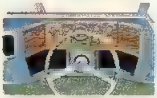


Your Larson dealer has this superb seat waiting for you on his showroom floor. You'll find it by the pair in many new Larsons this year. Have a seat and give some thought to the many exceptional differences in Larson '72 that spell extra value.

As soon as you sit down you'll know this new boat seat is unlike any other. The bottom and back are contoured and cushioned to fit yours.

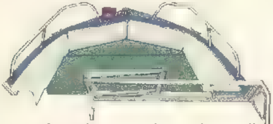


And when you lift the levers under the arms, the back reclines. Your mate can swing around to talk comfortably with you while facing the stern. You can swing toward her. Yet you're still within comfortable reach of the wheel and all other controls.



The 18 ft. Shark Stern Drive model has a wrap-around control panel. And every '72 Larson has padded dash and padded coaming.

Reach up now to the top of the windshield frame and pull yourself up. Sturdy, isn't it. If you've tried that on others, you'll feel the difference.

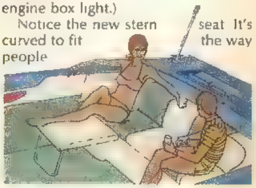


Look at the space forward. It's all flat and cushioned. You can stretch out in any direction. Or you can stow one section of cushions to convert the forward area to conventional seating. And there's a well for stowage or ice under the middle cushion. The new left side walk-thru makes it easy to get to the forward deck without disturbing the driver.

There's even a locking beverage bar to hold glasses and bottles secure.

We've thought of some other simple things, too. Like molding non-skid step areas on gunwales, and at the bow on Shark models.

And a very functional but unobtrusive bow light that has the big advantage of providing more step area for beach boarding. (Speaking of lights, every '72 Larson has an interior courtesy light; all Stern Drives have an engine box light.)



Notice the new stern seat. It's curved to fit the way people like to sit. By the way, the tables double as footrests for forward or stern seats. They stow neatly on the side panels when they're not in use.

There are many more innovations your Larson dealer would like to show you. All in the category of "value added by engineering for people."

During Larson's 58 years of boatbuilding, more people have bought Larson than any other brand of runabout. This year's innovations add to the value that's been so traditional.

Larson's differences make boating more fun and give you more value for your boating dollar. Your Larson dealer hopes you'll make your own comparison.

Luhrs Builds Boats For Men!

There are men who believe firmly that a day on the open sea is the only kind of day that makes any sense. These men have found that stepping aboard a rugged, seaworthy boat can make all of the frustrations of life ashore fade away. Suddenly, the headaches disappear, the bands around the chest ease off and the world takes on a rosier glow

These men look for certain qualities in their boats that allow them to range far offshore without concern for the boat's ability to handle whatever weather or sea conditions they might run into. They look for the qualities you find in a Luhrs boat.

Luhrs boats are rugged rather than exotic . . . sturdy rather than glamorous . . . handsome rather than pretty . dependable rather than capricious. In fact, they have the qualities you'd want in a friend. And when the sea makes up and the wind begins to howl, it's nice to know who your friends are.

Next time you feel the need to ease the pressure, go to sea with a friend. Luhrs can be your friend for life

If you're thinking about buying a high-performance cruiser or a houseboat or even a yacht, you owe it to yourself to see the new Whitcraft 50, first.

This 50-foot boat represents a whole new concept in pleasure boating. There is nothing quite like it anywhere At any price. Read why'

Cruiser hull. Smooth. Seaworthy.

It has a modified Deep-Vee hull that cuts the water like a cruiser. The hull was designed by Jim Wynne, famous racer and designer. (He also helped us build the 45-foot Whitcraft.)

The cruiser hull construction with its exceptional freeboard (56" forward 48" aft) makes it a remarkable performer in all kinds of seas

Cruiser speed.

The optional twin 330's produce speeds to almost 30 mph. Twin 280-hp engines are standard. Diesel power available too Fresh water cooling and vee-drives are standard with all engines

Fuel capacity, 240 gallons for gasoline engines; 344 for diesel options Water, 100 gallons standard, additional 100 gallons optional

Fiberglass. Less maintenance.

The entire hull and superstructure is of reinforced fiberglass, including the integrally-molded bottom stringer complex This fiberglass construction means less upkeep, more fun.

Made by the makers of Hatteras Yachts

... North American Rockwell That means you're assured of quality and experience in fiberglass that's unmatched in the boating industry.

Houseboat space.

Here's the real beauty of the new 50: it has living space exceeding cruisers and yachts of greater length So there's plenty of room to entertain. Beautifully. (Fred Hudson designed the contemporary interiors and superstructure. Decor by Mary Reed)

There are two different interior plans. One sleeps 8 comfortably with

Announcing the revolutionary Whitcraft 50.

At top speeds, you'll think you're on a cruiser.

Luhrs builds boats for the man who knows and respects the sea!

From the very beginning, the whole idea behind Luhrs was a boat that could handle the open sea in all kinds of weather.

Over the years, experienced skippers came to rely on Luhrs for honest performance, honest construction and honest value. And their respect for the Luhrs Modified Deep-V hull grew until today it is known as the best riding, most stable hull you can find.

Why did we modify Deep-V? Because the men who buy Luhrs do not spend their weekends racing to Bimini at 70 miles per hour. Luhrs owners know that the deep-V rolls your guts out the moment you slow down to a sensible, safe speed or when you drop the hook for some fishing.

Not that we don't build Luhrs boats to take a beating. We know there are times when even the most cautious of skippers can get caught offshore in a blow. So we beef up every Luhrs to handle the bad stuff without a whimper. Instead of cutting quality to build down to a price, we over-build where it counts and figure on making a little less profit.

That's why you'll be impressed when you give a Luhrs the once over. Over sized shafts, extra-thick bottom construction and massive engine bed stringers are just a few of the areas where Luhrs overbuilds. But we do admit to saving money cutting down on fancy chrome strips and the like. Our buyers could care less.

Most Luhrs owners have wives who enjoy the warmth and quality we build into our interiors. They enjoy the functional approach we've taken to our below decks layout and our galley arrangement. They tell us we just aren't kidding when we say, "Luhrs builds boats for men . . . with a woman in mind!"

There's one feature that makes every Luhrs owner happy and that's the Luhrs approach to pricing. Ever since we started, Luhrs boats have been famous for being the best buys on the boating market. It's just as true today as it was way back when. If you don't believe us, see your Luhrs dealer this weekend.

"LUHRS IS A MAN'S BOAT!"

Right from the start, the whole idea behind Luhrs was a boat that could handle the worst weather and run the dangerous inlets of the Jersey coast.

Men who knew and respected the sea came to rely on Luhrs for honest performance, rugged construction and, above all, the most boat for the dollar. As the years went by, we widened the range of styles and sizes to meet a growing demand. We moved into fiberglass construction and refined our designs until today our modified Deep-V hull is considered to be the most comfortable and seakindly bottom on any boat of its kind.

While our competitors were searching for ways to under-build and cut costs, we at Luhrs kept right on over-building in those areas where we knew it really counted. We held to the old tradition of giving you more quality and less chrome. That's why today's Luhrs has oversized shafts, extra thick bottom construction, massive engine bed stringers and the look of a rugged sea boat.

Does this mean that we ignore the ladies? Not on your life. We're well aware of the important part a woman plays in the final selection of a boat. That's why our interiors are rich and warm and planned so as to make boatkeeping easy and fun for the little woman. And yet, when you look over the new Luhrs interior, you'll find it isn't frilly or fussy. There's a simplicity and feeling of quality about it that you'll take to in a minute.

We say that a Luhrs is "Built for a man . . . with a woman in mind." When you visit your Luhrs dealer, we suggest you take your mate with you. Then watch her eyes light up as you hand her aboard and say, "Welcome aboard, Honey!" That's when you'll appreciate the Luhrs approach to boatbuilding.

Finally, when the dealer tells you the price of the Luhrs you prefer, you'll know why most Luhrs owners say, "It's the best dollar-for-dollar buy on the water!"

MG. The sports car
America loved first.

Right-hand drive, sweeping fenders, folding windscreen, cut-down doors and 19-inch wire wheels.

Room enough for two. And fun enough to breed a generation of sports car enthusiasts.

That was the MG-TC. Behind its wheel, thousands of Americans first discovered the joy of downshifting through a curve and the quickness of sports car handling.

Today that car has evolved to the MGB. Still pure sports car. Still most at home on twisting ribbons of almost forgotten scenic route where cars go to be driven, not scorched off the line in a brute display of acceleration.

As Motor Trend reported in October '71—

"You can find them any day on any piece of twisting pike ...leaving the bigger 'now' cars in their wake."

Yet today's MGB is equally at home on six-lane expressway. With direct rack-and-pinion steering, 10.5-inch front disc brakes, race-seasoned suspension, 4-speed close-ratio gearbox and a high performance 1798 c.c. overhead valve engine—all the world's its road.

Even in the fiercely competitive world of racing, MGB excels in its class. It's the reigning SCCA National Champion in E Production.

MGB also sports reclining bucket seats, full carpeting, leather wrapped steering wheel, oil cooler and full sports car instrumentation including tachometer and trip odometer.

What about you? Do you want to discover or re-discover the sheer joy of sports motoring?

If so, scour the want ads for a vintage MG TC. Or see an MGB at your MG dealer.

Magnificent Marauder

From Autocoast, the performance company

Marauder Flybridge 24 comes on with a velvet-smooth deep-vee hull, a posh interior with full standing headroom, a choice of powerful propulsion systems, a 200-mile cruising range, nearly indestructible fiberglass construction, and legal trailerability in every state in the Union. There's nothing else like Marauder in the world

This is the boat that turned on Chuck Daigh.

Chuck Daigh experienced something new at the wheel of a Marauder. A new thrill. And thrills don't come every day to a guy who's driven the world's hottest cars at Le Mans, Bonneville, Sebring, Daytona, and countless other racing courses. Chuck now personally tests and approves every Marauder we build. He is one of the reasons why the Marauder Flybridge 24 is the world's fastest cruiser, why the Marauder is virtually uncontested in Cruising and Sport Classes of many International Offshore Powerboat Racing events. However, the Marauder Flybridge 24 is more than a hot boat. It's a pussycat cruiser. And a new experience for the experienced yachtsman.

Everything you want...

Glasspar '72 still gives you all the performance and styling that established it as a blue water leader—along with the strength and safety of Life/Guard Construction.

This year, we put a lot more styling and engineering into our interiors to give you a lot more boating pleasure—without a lot more cost.

New pilot and co-pilot seats that swivel, recline and conform to your body. A new wrap-around couch-type rear seat that fits the way you sit. New easy-to-read-and-reach instrument panel. New sunbather decks that really let you stretch out in the sun. Loads of useable storage space. And lots more.

Your Glasspar dealer is waiting to show them all to you. Be sure to see them.

If you buy before you see Glasspar '72, you're missing the boat.

At Marco Island, Florida your boat can be another living room

...and it can serve you as easily, twelve months of the year!

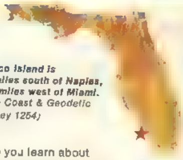
With three out of four of Marco Island's homesites on waterways, boating adventure is as nearby as the mood to cast off. The things a boat can do can be done better with tropic Marco Island as a home port . . . cruising a beckoning Gulf of Mexico coastline northwards or poking through the neighboring Ten Thousand Islands to the south

Fishing—the best—for fighting tarpon and snook, and for literally hundreds of other species, all fostered by a program for environmental management that's years ahead of its time.

Florida's building brothers, the Mackles, were ahead of their time, perhaps, with a masterplan for highly regarded Marco Island, but seven years later hundreds of homes and apartments, nearly 40 miles of bulkheaded waterways, shopping and medical centers, and fun places like the 550-room beachfront hotel and posh Country and Yacht clubs are the answer to Mackle judgment that a market exists for excellence in total community planning

Marco Island/Marco Shores is owned broadly now by people who, chances are, could own vacation second home, or long term investment property just about anywhere Some bought Marco Island after cruising into the Marco River from Marco Pass, some simply talked to other owners like Joe Garagiola. Joe owns an apartment looking out over the Gulf When the pressure builds to the "fed up point," Joe heads for Marco Island and his share of the beach, and the golf, and the life at the water's edge.

To get the whole fascinating story of Marco Island, fill out and mail the attached reply card. Or if the card is missing, write to The Deltona Corporation, 3250 S.W Third Avenue, Miami, Florida 33129.



Marco Island is 16 miles south of Naples, 104 miles west of Miami.
(See Coast & Geodetic Survey 1254)

We'll help you learn about Marco Island on your terms, but if your answer to the question, "Why a boat?" is, "To use it" and to have it as close as possible to a beautiful home, you should check out Marco Island . . . it's one of a kind

TIME & TIDE

Well made and attractive clocks, barometers, thermohygrometers, and apparent wind indicators are available in solid brass and heavy chrome. German and Swiss movements are used, and an unusual tide clock is priced in brass at $81. Also in brass, the ship's clock is $75, and the barometer $55. A self-powered apparent wind indicator, with "beat" and "run" switch, costs $159.50 complete.

ZENITH

For a portable radio receiver that's just about the best to be had, look to Trans-Oceanic Royal 7000 by Zenith. The 11-band Trans-Oceanic tunes in the world, operating on flashlight batteries. VHF, weather, long wave, navigation, marine, ship-to-ship, amateur, five international short wave bands, FM and AM broadcast are all right there. It will also handle Consol and Consolan since it has its own beat frequency oscillator.

Zenith Radio Corp., 1900 N. Austin Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60639

RICKBORN

"We are flying bridge specialists," say the men at Rickborn, designers and manufacturers of complete, pre-equipped, self-fitting, fiberglass flying bridges. Prices range from $1,376 to $2,950 for complete bridges. Bridge ladders are priced from $79 50 to $245, while special houseboat flying bridges carry tags from $1,643 to $2,950

Rickborn Industries, Inc., 175 Atlantic City Blvd., Bayville, N.J. 08721

Nautolex, a tough vinyl deck covering, is engineered exclusively for the marine industry. Its maker, General Tire, says, "Unlike paint, varnish or canvas, a tough Nautolex covered surface will resist heat, stains, alcohol and weather to a remarkable degree. Applied with a special General Tire adhesive, Nautolex becomes an inseparable part of the material it protects and beautifies."

The decking is specified by hundreds of boat manufacturers as original equipment. Installation is easy, requiring some eight hours for the average boat. No difficult techniques or unusual skills are needed to apply Nautolex, according to its maker.

The General Tire & Rubber Co., P.O. Box 875, Toledo, Ohio 43601

AEROCEANIC

Covico steering wheels and adapters, Steermaster marine steering systems, and Aero Marine drive train components, including underwater hardware, are the principal products. Aeroceanic motors and generating systems are also handled.

Aeroceanic Corp., P.O. Box 730, Santa Maria, Calif. 93454

REYTACS

New low cost trim tabs are offered by Reytacs. "Press the button to level the boat," says the company. According to the manufacturer, the trim tabs prevent both stern squat and power waste

Foam Sandwich Zipper

Something special in every way is this high-speed tri designed for home building in PVC foam sandwich. Messrs. Harris and Heacock claim they've developed "a fast and easy method of foam sandwich construction which enables an amateur to build an all-plastic one-off yacht."

Zipper is designed for planking with large sheets of foam; her cross arms are fiberglass box section.

Unlike older tris, Zipper is designed to heel up to 10 or 15 degrees, depressing the floats. According to the designers, the two floats are low buoyancy for stability while allowing enough heel to spill sudden gusts, thus avoiding serious strains on the boat's fabric.

Special attention should be paid to the semi-circular mainsheet track, which makes use of a vanging arrangement unnecessary and facilitates controlled jibes. The high-aspect rig allows for a huge spinnaker and a truly immense reacher, whose foot will be nearly the length of the boat. On a broad reach, the sail sets ahead of the forestay and is tacked down to the windward float. Cruising downwind, it can replace the spinnaker.

The layout below decks is fairly plain vanilla, with four berths in the main cabin, and a large sail locker with optional canvas berths forward. Plans are $400, from the designers.

One-Design Keel Sloop

A strict one-design built in fiberglass by Beckmann Christensen of Westport, Conn., X/21 attempts to combine the best of tradition and modernity in a day racer for a crew of 2 or 3.

She is of moderate displacement, with a pronounced ventral skeg and a 50% ballast-displacement ratio. For safety and comfort, she has an eight-foot cockpit, into which all sheets and halyards lead. As the designer remarks, X/21 is to be sailed in, not on.

The boat is trailerable, on the sort of rig that pulls the O'Day Yngling, for the skipper who prefers dry sailing. X/21 is built to a high specification, with teak trim, aluminum mast and boom, stainless rigging with Dacron tails. According to Mr. Norton, she is self-righting and has foam flotation.

Her base price is $3,250, and the essential sails—main, lapper and spinnaker—are $750. Trailer is approximately $500. For more information, write the dealer, Tradition Yachts, 66 Broad St., Stamford, Conn. 06901.

32′ ALL FIBERGLASS SEDAN (FROM $23 500 WITH TWIN ENGINES)

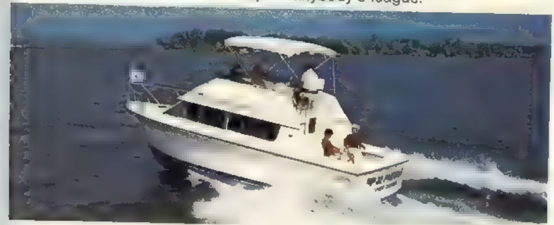
Two new 32's that shrink larger cruisers by comparison.

Wood or glass, any decent cruiser up to 37′ should give you this: Room for sleeping six. Galley. Forward stateroom. Enclosed head. Convertible dinette and convertible sofa. Salon.

So do our new fiberglass 32's.

But.

They are also competitive with arger cruisers on interior space and elbow room. On the Sport Cruiser we put the power plant under the cockpit and created an interior that lays out entirely on one level. The forward stateroom, complete head with shower, galley area, convertible dinette, helm controls and salon all in a row. This single level layout magnifies interior space in feel as well as fact. Wrap-around cabin windows flood the interior with plenty of sunlight and add to the exterior styling that will stand out in anybody's league.



32′ ALL FIBERGLASS SPORT CRUISER (FROM $25,500 WITH TWIN ENGINES AND STANDARD FLYBRIDGE)

By the way, you don't have to pay extra for the Sport Cruiser's fiberglass flybridge, yet it's as big as the bridge on a lot of 50′ motor yachts. Molded-in "L" shaped bench seats surround the center helm and seat seven people.

For the boatman who likes interior privacy achieved by a split level floor-plan, we offer the 32′ Sedan.

Either way, split level Sedan or single level Sport Cruiser, we've got a very compelling story of 32's.

Great standard equipment, several exciting decor packages to choose from, all fiberglass construction, five power options and excellent handling qualities. Head for your nearest Pacemaker dealer and see our two new 32's. Or write for complete details and color literature:

Where TUNNEL DRIVE is in power

Others are trying, but nobody comes close to this 23' Sport Fisherman with Tunnel Drive™

Circle 6 for reader service

23' Cuddy Cabin

Seven Avengers because you have different uses in mind.

Is your boating pushing out to blues[illegible] country . . . cocktailing with fishing friends . . . pulling a pyramid of skiers . . . Sunday family outings? Penn Yan's 23' Avenger Series has a model to match your mood.

Take the Sport Fisherman. Your eyes aren't playing tricks. Those immense inside dimensions come from a 9½ ft. beam (8 ft. is average for a 23 footer). Full sized V-berths, 6 ft. cabin headroom. Galley/dinette sleeps two more in comfort. Dual controls topside.

You get a mid-sized cabin with full-sized luxury, plus 80 sq. ft. of cockpit in the Cuddy Cabin. Berths, toilet, privacy door, full galley, and an optional [illegible] flybridge—for close to $10,000.

The Sportsman boasts a compact galley with dual V-berths, wall-to-wall carpeting. Twin 36-gal. fuel tanks. And the big-seller Open Avenger offers 104 sq. ft. of cockpit for a large fishing party, sack out berths, toilet.

Truly famous Tunnel Drive is the power, 215 to 255 horses. All inboard gear is recessed in a 5 ft. tunnel above the keel line. Draft is only 14" (up to 30" in comparable boats). No damaged props. Simulated teak decks are free, open, easy to wash down. Other Tunnel Drive models: 18 to 26 ft.

Tunnel Drive Avengers are perhaps the most unique boats in America for space, for propulsion, for performance for the price. Write Dept. A3, Penn Yan Boats, Inc., Penn Yan, N. Y. 14527 for a color catalog. See your dealer, too.

New Golden Jubilee Montego models combined with proven Tunnel Drive

Now Tunnel Drive gets new sexy styling with functional exterior/interior design from Arenth & Fish Associates, famed designers of blue water boats.

For openers, the Montego will come as a runabout series. Model 220 boasts a long, rakish bow that still handles two V-berths with optional toilet and holding tank. Fresh new profile is matched by high-style, high-back, contoured pedestal seats . . upholstered gunwale pad. Montego 200 Open has a 92" beam with the same tasteful seats and gunwale treatment.

But the best part is Tunnel Drive. All inboard drive gear is above keel line — recessed in a tunneled high-performance V-hull. Draft is only 14". Direct line power train efficiency. Costs less to buy, run, service. Write for full facts. Penn Yan Boats, Inc., Dept. BB, Penn Yan, N. Y. 14527. Phone (315) 536-4401.

26′ VINDICATOR FLYBRIDGE with twin Tunnel Drive. Draft is only 19″. 10½′ beam. Dinette seats six. Other Tunnel Drives 16′ — 20′ — 22′ Tri-hull — 23′. I/O's: 18′ - 19′ — 20′.

This one stands alone. A 23 ft. Sport Fisherman with a 9½ ft. beam that won't "roll top-heavy" at anchor or when trolling. The dramatic difference is a high-performance V-hull with the now legendary Tunnel Drive that does so many things well.

All inboard gear is recessed in a 5 ft. tunnel above keel line. Draft is only 14" (up to 30" in comparable boats). No damaged props, drive. No snagged lines. Direct line power train utilizes 100% of boat's forward thrust—allows a flush-floor cockpit.

Avenger Series comes in seven well-planned models. Open, with hardtop/flybridge—Cuddy Cabin with flybridge—Sport Fisherman (main illus.) with dual controls, instrumentation.

Even with full-size V-berths, cabin/head, galley/dinette, you get 64 sq. ft. of open working space in the Sport Fisherman—and 60 sq. ft. in the Cuddy. Power options range from 210 to 270 h.p. And all Penn Yan's are very affordable.

NEW GOLDEN JUBILEE MONTEGO RUNABOUTS

Completely new contemporary styling. Rakish bow, pedestal seats, upholstered gunwales. Rich brown hull/champagne toned interior. Model 220 with twin berths in 96" beam. Also Model 200.

Other tradition-breaking Tunnel Drives: 26' Vindicator with twin installations, 22' - 20' - 18' - 22' tri-hull. I/O's: 16' - 18' - 20'.

PENSACOLA: DEEP IN HISTORY— HARD ON THE GULF ICW

Why should a boatman go to Pensacola? That's the blunt question put to me by the pragmatic editor, speaking on behalf of the readers. Let's tick off the answers.

Geography. Pensacola is a deep-water port of refuge located on the Gulf Coast Intracoastal Waterway (ICW) 150 miles equidistant from New Orleans to the west and Apalachicola, Fla. to the east. Thus it is a natural stopover point for vessels traveling between Texas and the Mississippi River and the Florida-Bahamas area. Being in the Florida panhandle it admits to having a winter—but only the kind that is short and seldom freezes water. Except for this miniscule drawback, the large and deep bay at Pensacola could and someday may rival Tampa Bay as a seasonal center for yachting activity. It all depends upon the (as yet, uninspired) city government.

The accompanying chart shows Pensacola Bay related to the Gulf Coast and points of interest to be mentioned.

The undulating hills and lush foliage dominated by live oaks along the ICW near Pensacola are unspoiled by the "progress" of Southern Florida. Numerous anchorages permit a peaceful night in company with leaping mullet. This happy condition should be preserved as the Interior Department develops the newly announced Gulf Islands National Seashore, encompassing a series of off-shore islands and keys stretching 150 miles from Gulfport, Miss. to Destin, Florida.

History. Most boatmen make the mistake of hurrying along the ICW under the assumption that its attractions lie solely at one end or the other. A history buff passing through Pensacola should tie up to the Municipal Pier at the foot of Palafox St. and walk a few blocks to the reconstructed old city known as Seville Square. Here the authorities have restored many homes and buildings and have created several museums which depict the city's history. All of these can be seen on a do-it-yourself walking tour.

The visitor learns that Don Tristan de Luna made one of the first white settlements (1600 persons) in North America on Santa Rosa Island in 1559. It and a later English settlement were wiped out by hurricanes. But the value of the deep water port led to a bloody competition that resulted in five different flags flying over the city for various periods: Spanish, French, English, and the United States (both Federal and Confederate). Here, as its first Territorial Governor, Andrew Jackson accepted Florida from Spain in 1821 at Plaza Ferdinand.

Standing guard at the bay's entrance are somber Forts Barrancas and Pickens, both dating back to the early 1800s. Adjacent to Barrancas are the remains of Fort San Carlos, constructed by the Spanish in 1698 and largely destroyed by the French in 1719.

In 1914 the Navy established an Air Station for training its flight personnel. Today it is the hub of a huge sprawl of outlying fields and schools, plus an excellent museum of naval aviation. The aircraft carrier Lexington, lying at a station dock, gives proof of Pensacola's deep-water capability.

Each April Pensacola's Fiesta of Five Flags throws the city's checkered history into sharp focus. If you like fun and hoopla, time your cruise accordingly and reserve dockage well ahead

What to Do. Let's assume you're willing to take a day or so of your cruise to really see Pensacola and savor its southern hospitality. The thing to do is make use of the tourist services provided by the Pensacola–Escambia Development Commission, headquartered at Palafox and Cervantes Streets on top of a hill overlooking the town. If you're lucky you'll be greeted by Miss Pat Riddle, Publicity Coordinator. Pert, pretty, and gregarious Pat knows her town and loves it. If your interest tends toward the Pensacola Yacht Club and its live-wire racing program, she'll call a friend and send you off with a plan of action. The same goes for fishing (excellent in all seasons), fort-visiting (requires a car rental), dockage at a nearby marina, or swimming (at famed Pensacola Beach).

An excellent local scuba school features a short course of instruction which includes a dive on the old battleship Massachusetts, now awash at the bay's entrance. Such training can enhance your later cruising in the Florida Keys or Bahamas.

The point is that Pat and her colleagues are dedicated to making visitors enjoy visiting Pensacola. Their help is the difference between a lonely sailor wandering aimlessly and one who feels welcome and purposeful.

OK, skipper, there is the case for visiting Pensacola. The best time is early spring or late fall, outside the hurricane season. In Pensacola's earliest language, Vaya con Dios! ⚓ plastic Clorox bottle sits on the driver's seat. The wind has pressed newspaper against the chain-link fence around the lot. Atlantic Avenue, the city's principal thoroughfare, could be seventeen American Main Streets placed end to end—discount vitamins and Vienna Corset shops, movie theatres, shoe stores, and funeral homes. The Boardwalk is made of yellow pine and Douglas fir, soaked in pentachlorophenol. Downbeach, it reaches far beyond the city. Signs everywhere—on windows, lampposts, trash baskets—proclaim "Bienvenue Canadiens!" The salt air is full of Canadian French. In the Claridge Hotel, on Park Place, I ask a clerk if she knows where Marvin Gardens is. She says, "Is it a floral shop?" I ask a cabdriver, parked outside. He says, "Never heard of it." Park Place is one block long, Pacific to Boardwalk. On the roof of the Claridge is the Solarium, the highest point in town—panoramic view of the ocean, the bay, the salt-water ghetto. I look down at the rooftops of the side-avenue motels and into swimming pools. There are hundreds of people around the rooftop pools, sunbathing, reading—many more people than are on the beach. Walls, windows, and a block of sky are all that is visible from these pools—no sand, no sea. The pools are craters, and with the people around them they are countersunk into the motels.

The seventh, and final, game is ten minutes old and I have hotels on Oriental, Vermont, and Connecticut. I have Tennessee and St. James. I have North Carolina and Pacific. I have Boardwalk, Atlantic, Ventnor, Illinois, Indiana. My fingers are forming a "V." I have mortgaged most of these properties in order to pay for others, and I have mortgaged the others to pay for the hotels. I have seven dollars. I will pay off the mortgages and build my reserves with income from the three hotels. My cash position may be low, but I feel like a rocket in an underground silo. Meanwhile, if I could just go to jail for a time I could pause there, wait there, until my opponent, in his inescapable rounds, pays the rates of my hotels. Jail, at times, is the strategic place to be. I roll boxcars from the Reading and move the flatiron to Community Chest. "Go to Jail. Go directly to Jail."

The Mountain Porsche

The Porsche 914 is as close as we could get to building a mountain goat.

Comparatively speaking, the Porsche runs nicely at the most dizzying of heights. (Thanks to electronic fuel injection.)

It is quite comfortable on rocky places because of independent wheel suspension and body-fitting bucket seats.

And the steepest trail is no problem with its five-speed gearbox.

But what goes up the mountain must come down the mountain.

So the 914 has 4-wheel disc brakes that're with you when you need them. And rack-and-pinion steering that lets you feel the road through the sharpest bends.

There are two trunks to carry your equipment and the fiberglass roof snaps off in seconds so you can enjoy the view from the top.

(The roof stores under the rear trunk lid, and still leaves plenty of storage space.)

The price, however, is down in the valley.

PUNTA GORDA ISLES

It's worth all the hard days you worked to earn it!

There's an explorer's spirit in the wind that billows your sails on Charlotte Harbor. Ponce de Leon navigated these same sparkling waters in 1513 and sprinkled the chart with romantic names – Matanca, Patricio, San Ysabel, Boca Grande.

Here is beautiful, unspoiled land with room for more water-oriented living than any other county in Florida. The open spaces are still here, and the clean, fresh air, invigorating sunshine and sparkling tropical waters.

Charlotte Harbor is a 120 square mile body of sheltered and unpolluted salt water that surrounds Punta Gorda Isles on three sides. Here you can live a new lifestyle that reflects the free spirit of Florida's "Last Great Waterfrontier." And almost every day of the year there's golf, gardening, fishing, sailing, swimming, hunting and the enjoyment of friendly neighbors at the "Isles" clubs.

You choose the lifestyle and we'll make it a carefree adventure in good living – waterfront homes, condominiums or Park Lane homesites set in spacious greenways near Southwest Florida's most unique marina recreation complex.

a step like mine were pretty different. Mother went all to pieces. I cried a lot." Within a few weeks, however, Mrs. Horne relented, and she is now very fond of Lewis.

THE human voice—particularly the female voice—is a delicate instrument, easily disturbed by the ills of the flesh and, in some ways, not ideally built for the more complex types of singing. It commonly falls into three (some theorists say two) registers, which are determined by the muscular settings of the vocal cords. Generally, the lower, or "chest," register and the top, or "head," register are the best naturally developed areas of the range. Between them lies the middle register (which is treated by the two-register theorists as a mere link between chest and head tones), and at the top of this there are a few so-called "passage notes" leading up to the head register. It often happens that the middle register is the weak part of a singer's range, and that the passage notes just above it are even weaker. Between the registers there can be a sort of break, or yodel. Naturally, a great deal of vocal training is devoted to bridging the breaks and to strengthening the middle voice especially the passage notes—to give a smooth, seamless quality to the entire range. By a certain physiological adjustment, a given register can be expanded upward or downward by a few notes, but the practice is not universally considered healthy for the voice. Some singers never really succeed in strengthening the middle voice and the passage notes, and one can detect this fact at many an opera performance. Miss Horne's middle voice is remarkably well handled, giving her a seemingly flawless range from chest tones to head tones. Her chest tones are among the most powerful to be heard anywhere today—"When I open up down there, you'd better look out," she has said and her head tones are extremely brilliant and agile. But bringing all this range into an equality of sound has taken some doing. The powerful chest tones have had to be restrained. The middle voice has been strengthened, but until two years ago the passage notes were still something of a problem, since this is the last part of the voice to develop. For her, the passage notes are E, F, and G at the top of the staff. From there, her middle register descends to somewhere around E flat at the bottom of the staff, and from Miss Horne is of the opinion that Giuseppe Verdi wrote badly for the voice. "He wrote for dramatic reasons, and he has a way of hammering at the weakest spot in a singer's range," she says. "When a young person sings Azucena [in "Il Trovatore"], for example, it's very bad for the voice. Amneris [in "Aida"] gets a gorgeous aria to sing, and then comes the judgment scene, and that is terrible. You can't sing these roles in your twenties." What Miss Horne means is that Verdi's roles are not right for her type of voice, which is a bel-canto instrument, better attuned to Rossini, Donizetti, and Bellini. In order to sing Verdi's soprano or mezzo-soprano roles (the roles just mentioned are both mezzo), she has to bring her chest register up to tackle those passage notes a good deal of the time. This is extremely awkward for her. She has sung Eboli in "Don Carlo," for example, without any outstanding success, because her voice is simply not suited to the role. Verdi wrote for a different kind of singer: a lyric soprano of the type best exemplified by Leontyne Price, who has no trouble at all with Verdi roles; in fact, she thinks that Verdi wrote better for the voice than anybody except perhaps Mozart.

Nevertheless, in the kind of music she sings best, Miss Horne has remarkable smoothness throughout her enormous range, and she works hard to retain it. Though her voice has been compared with that of Rosa Ponselle, and she herself is inclined to compare it with that of the late Ernestine Schumann-Heink ("Schumann-Heink had a brilliant and very loud upper register, and so have I"), she always thinks of Lilli Lehmann, an incredibly versatile singer of the last decades of the nineteenth century, when she feels overworked. "Lilli Lehmann was a terrific worker—a real Kraft-durch-Freude type," she says. "When I'm feeling sorry for myself, I think of her." Miss Horne is a pronounced extrovert. Colds don't bother her; she has often sung with one. "We singers have good days and bad days, good weeks and bad weeks," she said recently. "The air pollution in New York is very bad for my throat. I use steam to counteract it. Singers always latch on to anything around in the way of cold prevention. The voice is something that is here today and gone tomorrow."

Like most singers, Miss Horne loves her work, loves to show off her voice,

AMERIMEX

The Amerimex Airboat is 12'6" long but weighs only 23 lbs. and rolls up into a 10" x 19" parcel. Easy to inflate and deflate, rugged, and unsinkable, it can be used with motor, sail, or paddle. Price includes foot pump, two sets of back and seat cushions, floorboards, back rests, spare parts kit, and carrying duffle

Amerimex Corp., 122 W. 30th St., New York, N.Y.

SKIMMAR

Sixteen models from Skimmar provide thrifty thrills in the daysailing circuit or rowable, paddleable, motorable boats-of-all-work. They have sailboards, frostbiters, dinks, and cartoppers, all of sturdy fiberglass. Sea Lark is a light, 79 lb sailer that fits into a car trunk but sails like the wind. Nylon sail, aluminum spars, stainless hardware, mahogany rudder, daggerboard, and seat.

Aeronautical, Inc., 154 Prospect St., Greenwich, Conn. 06830

SPORTYAK

Low cost family fun boats, the Sportyaks are 7' or 8' long and every foot is packed with practicality. Light—38 to 75 lbs.—they are of tough, durable linear polyethylene in a bonded double-hull design, thus they are strong, buoyant, rigid, indestructible, and maintenance-free. You can row them, sail them, or power them—Sportyak has the accessories to allow for any one or all three variations on the boating theme.

Dayton Marine Products, 7565 E. McNichols Rd., Detroit, Mich. 48234

SPOACRAFT

Miniature dinghy of "structured plastic" construction is only 5'4" in length. Reinforced transom will take outboards of the lowest power range. Price for the Chub dinghy is $89.95.

Spoacraft, Division of Bischoff Chemical Corp., 220 Miller Rd., Hicksville, N.Y. 11801.

OLD TOWN CANOE

Old Town, which pretty much took up where the Indians left off, has a fantastic lightweight pack canoe which weighs in at only 18.5 lbs. Called the Rushton after J. Henry Rushton who produced one-man canoes of cedar in the 1800s, this pack boat is of featherweight fiberglass. Old Town has a plethora of other models in various configurations, square end to accept outboards, kayaks to accept whitewater; war canoes to accept 15 paddlers. They especially recommend their rugged, laminated fiberglass kayaks for the new sport of kayak surfing. Old Town also supplies accessories: boat racks, helmets for whitewater work, life vests, sails and rig for adapting canoes to sailing—in fact, the works. Prices range from around $200 to well over $1,000 for the War Canoe.

Old Town Canoe Co., 58 Beaver St., Old Town, Me. 04468

SNARK PRODUCTS

Rowable, towable, and stowable, the Moby Dink (now, isn't that cute?) is a molded plastic, one-piece dinghy. She weighs 55 lbs., is 6' by 3'6" and has a comfortable 15" freeboard. With seats and motor mount of varnished marine plywood, the Moby Dink retails at about $120

Snark Products, Inc., 1580 Lemoine Ave., Fort Lee, N.J. 07024

ZODIAC

The name Zodiac is practically synonymous with inflatable boat—exploits, whether military or civilian, of these prestigious craft, are legion. From the little 7' You You (yes, that's its name) for $270 to the 19' ocean-going Mark V at $2040, all Zodiacs can take motors, and are built on a tested U-shaped design. Inflatable keels, marine plywood transoms, self-bailers, splash guards are standard; many other features can be got as optional extras.

Zodiac of North America, Inc., 11 Lee St., Annapolis, Md. 21401

There are two cars built in Sweden. This is the one with rack and pinion steering for quicker response.

Rack and pinion steering is the most precise steering system there is.

The most precise because it provides the most direct connection between the steering wheel and the steered wheels.

So it gives you a better feel of the road, better control, and quicker response than any other type of system.

The Saab 99 has rack and pinion steering. The other car from Sweden doesn't.

But rack and pinion steering isn't the only thing that separates us from that other Swedish car. Or from most other cars on the road, for that matter.

We have front wheel drive, for better handling and cornering.

We have impact absorbing bumpers, so effective they can save you as much as 15% on your collision insurance rates.

And we have an overhead cam engine, with fuel injection. Which means our engine will work more efficiently, will give you better gas mileage and will last longer than a conventional engine.

But the best way to tell the difference between the two cars built in Sweden is to find a twisting road and drive both cars over it.

Once you do, we think you'll want to keep driving the Saab.

The Water Bed.

Slip into a quiet bay. Toss out the anchor. And watch the sun set.

It's nighttime on Antigua — Silverline's fully-equipped 18 foot camper/cruiser. Time to fold down the stern seats. And tuck in the kids.

Time to think about tomorrow. About being alone with your family. About fishing. And cruising. And water skiing.

Time to raid the galley for a midnight snack.

Time to turn the forward couch into a big, soft bed. Crawl in. And listen to the sounds of a sleeping forest.

Zzzzzzzz.

SILVERLINE

The Family Plan.

We've got a plan for getting families together. A plan for building fun and freedom and fond memories. A plan called Silverline.

There's a size and shape to fit every family. Every need. Runabouts and campers. Even a classy 22 foot cabin cruiser.

Some have bait wells that double as coolers and keep everybody's favorite drink on ice.

Most have 3-position recliner seats that fold flat—and give tired kids a place to nap.

And all have extra storage space for fishing gear and jackets and towels and toys and skis.

Silverline. Everything you'd expect in a family plan. And a whole lot more.

Finally, a Trawler Yacht that's as ready to cross the ocean as you are. With style.

What you're looking for is a motor yacht under 80 feet. One that can make extended ocean passages.

What you're not looking for is a glorified lake boat. Boats that look great. Until they meet the turbulent waters of the North Sea. North Atlantic. Or the Pacific.

You want a boat with a sound hull. Rugged construction. And one that's as fully equipped and luxurious as it is seaworthy.

What you want is a Southern Marine Long Range Trawler Yacht.

There's no boat quite like it. The bare hull alone weighs 25 tons. All teak. Hull planking and decks are two inches thick. Frames are 6 x 4 inches on 16-inch centers. The keel is a massive 12x8 inches. L.O.A. 60', 63', 65' and 72'. (And we can even build up to 120'.) Beam 18'-8". Draft 7'-0" to 7'-3".

These are the same hulls, by the way, that work the ferocious North Sea and North Atlantic winter and summer. And that requires seaworthiness. The hull is the foundation of our Trawler Yachts. On it, we build luxury: custom-designed interiors to a standard usually found on yachts costing more than twice as much.

Our Trawlers are equipped with everything you expect on a luxury yacht. And a lot of things you might not. Air conditioning, of course And sheltered aft-deck. Full-width boat deck. Enormous saloon. Separate galley with full electric range. Rotisserie. But would you expect an 8-cubic foot freezer? Ice maker? Dishwasher? Clothes washer/dryer? Our Trawler Yacht has four staterooms all with private bath. A Sea-Still Water Maker. With 600 gallons of fresh water capacity. And since accommodations are designed to our customer's specifications, we arrange for a visit with our naval architect at our yard at Dublin.

Something else our Trawler Yacht has is a big, easy-running heavy duty diesel coupled with large fuel capacity. It gives you the power and range you need to go anywhere. Cruise at 10 knots for over 2,500 miles.

Only a limited number of yachts are available. So send now for plans, specifications and photographs. Write us directly at Southern Marine Limited, Malahide Shipyard, Malahide, County Dublin, Ireland. Or call us direct at Dublin 350303 (after hours: 322372). Or Telex 4287 ing gate in a tangle but finished second to Susan's Girl at the end of the mile. From all accounts, she was away on her toes in the Mother Goose and was never headed during the mile and a furlong, responding well to the urging of Velasquez to win by a neck from Susan's Girl, with Summer Guest, winner of the Black-Eyed Susan and Pimlico's Oaks, third. Now Wanda will have a go on June 17th at the Coaching Club American Oaks, which is at a mile and a half this year, and I hope she clicks. A good-looking dark bay, by Cornish Prince out of Blackfly, Wanda runs in the name and colors of the Niblick Stable, which is owned jointly by Mrs. Jim Conway and Dr. Bernard Brennan. She is trained by Jim Conway, who's a good man with fillies (remember Grecian Queen, Miss Request, Primonetta, and Bramalea, to name only four on a long list?), and who picked her up for a mere $6,500 at the Saratoga yearling sales. First money in the Mother Goose was $50,760.

YOUR correspondent popped off for the holiday to Hollywood Park, where, as always, Mervyn LeRoy and Jim Stewart put on a good show. On the Saturday before Memorial Day, there was the Argonaut Stakes, at a mile and a sixteenth on the grass, in which eight three-year-olds had a warmup for the Hollywood Derby on July 1st. Among them were Quack, winner of the California Derby, and Solar Salute, winner of the Santa Anita Derby, but neither was in the first three. The winner turned up in Kentuckian, who was tenth in the Kentucky Derby. (Someday, Colonel Martingale is going to add up the number of Derbys run off in a season.) On Memorial Day, six of the nine races were run over the turf course, which is quite unusual, and in one of them the exacta paid $8,510. The main event was the Lakeside Handicap, which was run in two divisions, each with $50,000 added. In the first, Fast Fellow ran true to his name; in the second, On the Track wore down Big Shot II and Kennedy Road, the favorite.

Fillies were in action there last weekend, Convenience bringing off a 12-1 chance and stepping a mile and a furlong in 1:47⅗ in the six-figure Vanity Handicap. Typecast was second, Street Dancer third, and Turkish Trousers fourth. Another good program, and I'd like to have seen it. Colonel Martingale has sand in his

The fun-to-handle flybridge with the smooth, dry, level ride

THE AMERICANA DELUXE FLYBRIDGE

She takes off like a racehorse. She turns tightly. Handles lightly. She's an all-weather, all-seas craft—incredibly dry and level-riding, immensely heavy and strong—at her best when the going is worst. You get more comfort and safety for your family. You get easier maintenance, longer life for your boat. You get more boat for your money. It's your pay-off in pleasure for our quality-conscious pride in every boat we build. See your Stamas dealer or write for brochure to Stamas Boats, Inc., Tarpon Springs, Florida 33589.

Take one for fast relief from backache and stomach upset.

The secret is the hull.

The Airslot hull is actually three true vees. With two extra leading edges. Each sponson is itself a small vee, not just an extension of the hull side. This keeps the boat from rolling. And turning on the crest of every wave. And it keeps her stable at any angle to the sea.

The Airslot also has a diagonal slot across each side of the center vee. That gives you two additional leading edges. And that means you get up on plane fast, with no rearing up. And you get exceptional fore and aft stability. And there's almost no pounding. And no pitching. And no spray over the bow.

But we can't leave well enough alone.

Introducing the Airslot Sport. Sort of like a Ferrari stationwagon.

Our new 165 and 185 Sport Airslots have the same beautiful hull as our standard Airslot line. All fiberglass. LOA is 16'4" for the 165 and 18'7" for the 185. And they give you a little more room where it counts.

The cockpits are bigger. Longer and wider. And the sides are lower and racier. Included as standard are canvas top and boot, bow cushion, and bow storage compartments.

There's a molded-in dash compartment. And a wood grain instrument panel. And a molded-in drink holder.

And both the outboard and I/O models have molded-in rear seats with cushions.

Nice.

It won't hurt you to ride in one.

The new Airslot Sports are at your Wellcraft dealers now. Along with the rest of our whole beautiful line. Outboards and I/O's. Fishermen, bow riders, and cuddy cabins. From 15 to 24 feet. All BIA certified.

Take one for a test ride. You won't take a beating.

Giving you a big family cruiser that's trailerable and warranted for 15 years.

That's Starcraftsmanship.

The Starcraft 21' Islander I/O above — roomy enough for 10 people and with a cabin complete with upholstered cushions and backrests — was towed to the launching ramp. At highway speed. On a conventional boat trailer. Behind a car no different from your own. That's Starcraftsmanship.

Starcraft makes it possible because every Starcraft aluminum boat is made of special 5052 Marine Aluminum alloy. That means it's really light weight, so besides easy trailering an aluminum Starcraft performs with more speed, better gas mileage and maneuverability than a comparable boat made of anything else. And it'll take the saltiest, most polluted water with only a yearly waxing to keep it looking new. That's Starcraftsmanship.

Starcrafts do so many things well because we build them that way. They have the industry's first one-piece bottom and a few other secrets we picked up from the aerospace industry. Like a hull unitized to exterior keels and interior "Z" ribs and stringers with solid aluminum rivets. The few hull seams that are necessary are triple sealed. It's so well built that we warrant it for 15 years against metal fatigue, cracks and popped rivets (under normal recommended use) and for 24 months against defects in workmanship and materials. That's Starcraftsmanship.

Starcraft doesn't forget that the interior of a boat has to be lived in, not just look good. So the interior is covered with a special vinyl that resists everything from ultraviolet rays to chocolate ice cream. The windshield is safety glass. The cabin door is lockable. Positive foam flotation is standard on every Starcraft as is BIA certification in compliance with federal safety regulations. But just as important to a family man, there are over 1400 Starcraft dealers across the country. So even if you're a long ways from home you're never very far from a reliable Starcraft dealer. That's Starcraftsmanship.

Pick any Starcraft and leave the rest of the world behind

You're probably getting a pretty good feel for Starcraftsmanship by now. It's just simply that when you make and sell more aluminum boats than anyone else you learn what people want, and so you take a little extra care to make them better or roomier or more convenient or less expensive or longer lasting — then boaters who own Starcrafts are happier. And that makes us happy. That's Starcraftsmanship.

If you like, we'll see that you get a free 1972 Starcraft Marine catalog and the name of your nearest dealer. Just write and ask. Starcraft Company, Dept. MBS 5 A, Goshen, Ind. 46526.

log, he has been devising gimmicks to keep water in its place. The diaphragm pump takes the all-time prize for most water moved for least muscle energy. It is a simple affair, consisting of a big diaphragm, usually of neoprene, with a couple of hinged synthetic doors which Dart Union cleverly calls "Flapper Valves." Pull up on the diaphragm and a near perfect vacuum is created, which will suck water up 15 feet out of the bilge. Shove the diaphragm down, one flapper opens, the other closes, and the water goes overside, or up 15 feet or 20 feet more, if you need that much lift. With the vacuum, you never have to prime these pumps, nor will you harm them by running them dry. Pump bodies are made from fiberglass, DuPont Delrin, aluminum or bronze. All spark-proof, all strong, all at home in the marine environment. Diaphragms have been flexed a million times, without apparent wear, so should last a long time in pleasure boat service. For safety, diaphragms should be replaced every three years if exposed to the weather, every five, if protected below decks. As befits such a simple apparatus, spare parts are inexpensive.

Clogging And Clearing

Over the years, clogging has been the bane of the bilge pump. With diaphragms, this is rare, so strainers are hardly ever used, which removes the annoyance of a clogged strainer. On some makes, the valves are larger than the lines and manufacturers say that whatever gets up the intake will go through. Even if some debris gets jammed sideways, the pump is easily cleared. Quick-release gadgets open the housing, and it is then as easy to clear, as the strainer in your sink. West Products notes that you can pump a necktie through their Henderson without even knowing it. So much for Christmas ties. Edson likes to relate how one customer pumped a pair of men's trousers through their 2-inch lines. I hope they were permanent press.

Pumping Effort

Moving water by hand is hard work, but diaphragms do it easier than any other manual type. You have only to move the diaphragm a few inches either way with a lever as long as convenient. The action is back and forth, similar to opening and closing a door, so you or your crew can keep at it for quite a while before tiring.

Pump Mounting

There are many ways to mount a diaphragm pump: right side up, upside down on an overhead, right, left, under deck or sole, or in a locker. Some allow you to change valves so that either right or left side will become the intake, with exhaust out the other, as your boat requires. Since most handles are removable, pumps can be mounted in otherwise unused spaces, out of the way until needed. There are three important considerations when choosing the mounting spot: ease of operation, straightest possible pipe runs, convenience of location.

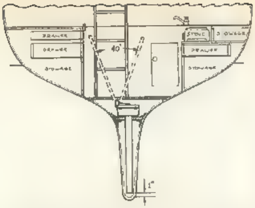

Diagram shows pump mounted under cabin sole with ample room to swing handle.

In an emergency, the pump may have to be manned for a longish period, so it's important that the pumper be able to swing his arm back and forth

The simplest, most direct steering system — is rack-and-pinion steering. The 512 racing Ferrari has it. So does the Audi.

You'll find there's an uncanny resemblance between the interior of the Audi 100 LS and the interior of the Mercedes-Benz 280SE.

The Audi has the same amount of trunk space as the Lincoln Continental Mark IV. In fact, a little more.

The Porsche 917, one of the most renowned racing cars in the world, has inboard disc brakes. So does the Audi.

Both the Cadillac Eldorado and the Audi have front-wheel drive. But we had it first.

Don't let the size of the Audi on the outside fool you about the size on the inside. It has just about the same headroom and legroom as the Rolls-Royce Silver Shadow.

The Audi gets the same expert service as a Volkswagen. Because it's part of the VW organization.

THE NEW YORKER

THE TIMEX® QUARTZ WATCH $125.

A micro-computer with over 300 transistors controls its accuracy to within 15 seconds a month.* Only Timex makes a watch this accurate and dependable at this price.

What makes quartz so special?

Quartz is a mineral with unique properties. When it's used in an electronic circuit, quartz will oscillate at a constant rate. This stable quality of oscillation is what makes quartz so special.

There's a quartz crystal in the official time system at the U.S. Naval Observatory.

And there's a quartz crystal inside the TIMEX Quartz Watch.

It splits each second into 49,152 equal parts, enabling the watch to maintain superior accuracy.

The quartz crystal is an integral part of a micro-computer system inside the TIMEX Quartz Watch.

This micro-computer system senses any variation in the accuracy of the watch. If the accuracy should vary, the micro-computer system restores the watch to its programmed accuracy.

Why the TIMEX Quartz Watch is so dependable.

The watch is engineered to be as rugged and dependable as you expect a TIMEX to be. And its water-resistant case keeps it protected from moisture, grit and dust.

The TIMEX price.

All quartz watches are more expensive than ours. Their prices range from about $250 to over $2000.

The price of the TIMEX Quartz Watch is $125.

It has always been our tradition to give you the best possible watch for the money. We feel the TIMEX Quartz Watch is a milestone in that tradition.

that makes it worth more here.

If you saw the way we put a Volkswagen together, you might think we were building a time capsule instead of a car that sells for only $1999.*

In a way we are.

That's why we give it a sealed steel bottom to protect it from rust, corrosion and time.

Then we apply 13 pounds of paint. Inside and out.

After we inspect the parts that go into a VW, we inspect the whole VW. Then we test it. And retest it.

Maybe that's why a Volkswagen that survives the factory holds up so well when you go to sell it.

In fact, based on what's happened over the last 3 or 4 years, no other economy car brings you a bigger return on your investment than a Volkswagen Beetle.†

The trick is to build one that still looks worthwhile on a used car lot.

When Wedgwood decides to make oven-to-tableware, you can imagine that it would be rather unusual oven to-tableware

Just how unusual the elegant contemporary shapes are, just how out of the ordinary —that you can judge for yourself.

We would like, as well to bring your attention to another feature that is not the usual Our casseroles and cooking and serving dishes are coordinated to complete place-oven, our oven to tableware works rather nicely on a table, too, wouldn't you say?

OVEN-TO-TABLEWARE BY Wedgwood

Take one for fast relief from backache and stomach upset.

A lot of people think a small boat has to pound through seas and flop across waves and just generally beat your brains out.

A lot of people have never ridden in an Airslot.™

The secret is the hull.

The Airslot hull is actually three true vees. With two extra leading edges. Each sponson is itself a small vee, not just an extension of the hull side. This keeps the boat from rolling. And turning on the crest of every wave. And it keeps her stable at any angle to the sea.

The Airslot also has a diagonal slot across each side of the center vee. That gives you two additional leading edges. And that means you get up on plane fast, with no rearing up. And you get exceptional fore and aft stability. And there's almost no pounding. And no pitching. And no spray over the bow.

All in all, the Airslot is a fantastic hull. And we build a great line of boats around it. Everything from 16' outboards to 24' cabin models.

But we can't leave well enough alone.

Introducing the Airslot Sport. Sort of like a Ferrari stationwagon.

Our new 165 and 185 Sport Airslots have the same beautiful hull as our standard Airslot line. All fiberglass. LOA is 16'4" for the 165 and 18'7" for the 185. And they give you a little more room where it counts.

The cockpits are bigger. Longer and wider. And the sides are lower and racier. Included as standard are canvas top and boot, bow cushion, and bow storage compartments.

There's a molded-in dash compartment. And a wood grain instrument panel. And a molded-in drink holder.

And both the outboard and I/O models have molded-in rear seats with cushions.

Nice.

It won't hurt you to ride in one.

The new Airslot Sports are at your Wellcraft dealers now. Along with the rest of our whole beautiful line. Outboards and I/O's. Fishermen, bow riders, and cuddy cabins. From 15 to 24 feet. All BIA certified.

Take one for a test ride. You won't take a beating.

Free color catalog.

Take a look at the new Airslot at your dealer's or send for our free, full color brochure. Wellcraft Marine Corp., Sarasota, Florida 33580

The V-20 is also available as an I/O

The moving story of Wellcraft's fishing rigs.

The sight of our 17- or 20-foot Fishermen leaping up on a smooth plane is enough to give any boatman a lump in the throat

The wide flaring bows for extra dryness have made grown men misty-eyed When they go slicing cleanly through waves, instead of ploughing through them, even seasoned old pros have been known to feel weak in the knees.

Performance is just as sweet at trolling speeds when the extra-wide chine and wide, flat steps help keep the hull flat and stable

But the real guts of the Wellcraft story is the guts of these Wellcraft Step Lift ™ V's. A good example. The double bottoms Different builders mean different things when they say double bottoms We mean a fiberglass hull with glassed-in stringers. A plywood subfloor sealed in with fiberglass An all-fiberglass inner-liner with its own half-inch plywood floor sealed in And then the floor and sub-floor bonded together under pressure. In short, what we mean by double bottoms is a hull that's as sturdy and durable as we know how to make it

Just as sound as their construction is their layout They're laid out by fishermen for fishermen Boxes for fish, bait, and ice Large center consoles Foam flotation. Aluminum gas tanks. Teak rod racks. Plenty of storage Self-bailing cockpits And, as you'd expect from Wellcraft, certified BIA-approved

You ought to know more about these boats. Get moving. See your dealer Or write

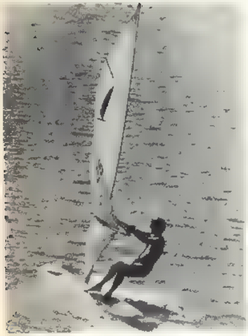
WINDSURFING



Forty pounds of racing fun, the Windsurfer combines the thrills of surfboarding with those of sailboarding. Response to any light breeze is exciting as the wind picks up, the charge to be got verges on overpowering. Rigging is easy and fast; length of board, 12 feet; sail area, 56 sq. ft.; adjustable skeg. The board is made of foam-filled moulded plastic, the sail is dacron and includes a window. Price with sail is around $365.

Windsurfing International, Inc., 317 Beirut Ave., Pacific Palisades, Calif. 90272.

AVON

Line of inflatable boats is of nylon/Hypalon construction, and ranges from 8′ to 16′6″ in length. Larger models take outboard motors up to 65 hp. New Seamder model is 13′2″ in length, and features a rigid hull of fiberglass with an inflatable superstructure. It has a special water ballast system said to give it great stability, and it will take motors up to 50 hp.

Inland Marine Co., 79 East Jackson, Wilkes-Barre, Penna. 18701.

PERRY OCEANOGRAPHICS

Perry Cubmarine Shark Hunter is a wet submersible that takes two scuba divers to depths of 150 feet or more. Vessel sells for $5,950

Perry Oceanographics, Inc., 100 East 17th St., Riviera Beach, Fla. 33404.

GRUMMAN

A total of 17 canoes, two utility boats, and a dinghy make up the '72 all-aluminum line of Grumman boats. Most of them are adaptable for sail. Paddles, sail rigs, and accessories are also available from the company. As a service to both novice and dedicated canoeists, Grumman makes available, free, an 8-page booklet "Group Camping by Canoe" and a new edition of their "Rent-a-Canoe," a directory of 300 U.S. locations where canoes, and sometimes camping gear, can be rented.

Grumman Boats, Marathon, N.Y. 13803

BOSTON WHALER

Squall, Boston Whaler's 9′2″ dink, sails up a storm. Its simple lateen rig makes it easy to handle for the novice; also for the novice, it is easy to right after capsize. The telescoping rig stows completely inside the boat; it has a lever-operated, leak-free centerboard, and the rudder assembly doesn't interfere with a small outboard. It is unsinkable and has a full skeg as an integral part of the hull.

Boston Whaler, Inc., 1149 Hingham St., Rockland, Mass. 02370

KAYOT

They refer to themselves as "The Pleasure People" and there is no gainsaying the fact that Kayot's line of pontoon boats look like fun. Their 40-foot Royal Capri is like a Holiday Inn on floats, but they also have a clever little Aqua-Bike, a two-man-one-small-child water-cycle. For '72, they have introduced a new, economy class catamaran houseboat—30-foot pontoons, sleeping four, and costing just under $7,000, fully found.

Kayot Marine Division, P.O. Box 789, Mankato, Minn 56001

GLADDING

For years, in this country at least, identified mainly with survival equipment, inflatables are becoming the hottest sellers in the fun boat business. Take, for example, Gladding Float Pac which, deflated, weighs only 12 lbs., including collapsible aluminum paddles and foot pump, will carry two adults. Float Pac has a vinyl case and rope ties for back-packing The Fisher 26 weighs 50 lbs. will take a motor, has oarlocks, supports 4 adults.

Gladding Corporation, Inflatable Boat Division, 844 Crosstown Parkway, E., Kalamazoo, Mich 49001

RECREONICS

Inflatable boats of Hypalon are offered in 10′6″ Bermuda; 11′ Speedyak 75; and 12′ Speedyak 100 models. All take outboard power.

Recreonics, Inc., Tozer Rd., Beverly, Mass. 01915.

ness administration, Harris went on to U.C.L.A.'s graduate school to work for a Ph.D. in physics, but even before he had earned his M.A. he knew he wanted to transfer to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and study with Professor Philip McCord Morse, whose technical papers and books Harris greatly admired.

M.I.T. gave Harris a research fellowship and then a teaching fellowship to help pay for his studies. He arrived in Cambridge in 1940, and, with the onset of the Second World War, the government became interested in acoustical research, so from the end of his first semester at M.I.T. until he received his doctorate Harris was also employed in research on devices such as bombs and mines with acoustical triggers. Although by 1945 he was an expert in that field, his doctoral thesis was not on the subject of weapons. With Professor Morse as his intellectual guide, and with room acoustics and acoustical materials as his particular interest, Harris did his thesis on "Application of the Wave Theory of Room Acoustics to the Measurement of Acoustic Impedence."

AT the time Harris received his doctorate, Dr. Harvey Fletcher, one of the great figures in acoustics history, was the director of physical research at the Bell Telephone Laboratories, in Murray Hill, New Jersey, which was at that time the leading acoustical-research center in the country. Fletcher offered him a job. The war had not yet ended, and Bell was deeply involved in military research, so Harris started out working on a torpedo that would home in on the noise made by an enemy ship. After the war, he turned to more peaceful matters: a point-source loudspeaker to be used with a point microphone for high-quality sound reproduction, porous screens and how they absorb sound, and speech synthesis. The last project involved developing a way of assembling the component sounds of human speech on one magnetic tape, printing them in various sequences on another tape, and coming up with a voice talking, if in slightly inhuman tones. Harris became the co-inventor of a talking typewriter (Bell Laboratories owns the patent), which could prove useful if anyone wanted his computer to talk instructions instead of printing them out. Bell Laboratories was as great, scientifically, as Harris had anticipated, and he stayed there for six years. Yet as time went on he felt slightly constrained, because, as an em-all too often as though we were blazing trails through forests. Now, I'm not for world government and I'm not for uniformity; I think that the strongest political and ecological systems are those that preserve variety. But you can't let variety run rampant. The environmental issue is more a matter of political and social management than anything else: You can't go on forever with four competing service stations at every crossroads and a deficiency of hospital beds."

An important influence in Strong's boyhood was the Oak Lake school principal, Clarence E. Heapy, who had hardly ever been outside Manitoba but who, in his pupil's view, was a genuinely universal man. "A lot of people who look big in small towns look smaller and smaller the more you move around and broaden your perspective," Strong says. "I've probably travelled almost as much by now as anyone except an airline pilot, and the more ground I cover the bigger Mr. Heapy looks." In 1962, a few years before Mr. Heapy retired, Strong, along with other former pupils, treated him and his wife to a European trip. In school, Strong had little difficulty with the curriculum; he was only thirteen when he started his senior year in high school. Not infrequently, he would finish his assigned work well ahead of a deadline and wander over to the east-west highway, Canada's coast-to-coast Route 1, and let his imagination carry him out along it and on around the world. Or he would take to the hills to commune with nature and reflect on its mysteries. "I could never get over the wonder of a hare's turning white in the winter and brown in the summer," Strong says. "I developed a profound respect for nature, which is at the root of my religious feelings, because the exciting things that were happening in the natural world owed nothing to man. I got my larger thoughts sitting in the hills. That's why I still like to live in a village." His affection for nature impelled him even then to pick up discarded gum wrappers. "I hated disorderliness," he says. "It's probably because we so often lived in shanties where our back yard was littered with junked cars." He claims never to have randomly discarded a soft-drink bottle. In 1970, when the province of Manitoba was celebrating its centenary, Strong took his wife and children back to Oak Lake, and he subsequently became the principal contributor to a fund to provide the town with a new hockey rink. Like practically all male Canadians, he

JUDGMENT FROM THE BENCH

Those who sit in judgment of a piano come from many branches of musical achievement. But they all look for the same signs of truth to emerge.

Responsiveness, for instance, is always called upon—especially when a new concerto is being tried.

Clarity must come forth—as in the case of enunciating vs blurring the inner voices of Bach's fugues. Reliability, above all, will figure hard in the outcome of every rock concert.

To all these points, Yamaha pianos plead guilty as charged.

Judge one at your nearest Yamaha dealer. But whatever you do—don't sentence yourself to life without a piano. In fact, we'd rather you buy another piano than no piano at all.

he sticks one foot out even farther than his chest, like an Edwardian head of state. So was the alarming enormous gold-tooth shop sign that the McTeagues, in their decline from one part of a San Francisco boarding house to a lesser part and eventually to a shack in the back yard, used as a ghastly sort of table. So were the images of long, bony arms clutching at gold coins, once intended to be repeated through the film and now cut to one shot.

"Greed" is the film of films, as Renoir has said. Last week, ill but lively and as sage as always, he talked about Stroheim's way of filmmaking: "He worked in the domain of the unconscious. Genius does." He said what he had said before to me: that "Foolish Wives" changed his own career. A couple of years ago, he said that before seeing "Foolish Wives" he had taken it that filmmaking lay in transcribing plays and that he hadn't thought of wanting to transmit the detail of what sort of cheese a man ate, what noises he heard from the courtyard, what wine he drank. He remains fascinated by the mixture of the naturalistic and the formal in "Foolish Wives" (which is there at its very greatest in his own "Rules of the Game," though he would be the last to think so). "Foolish Wives" opens at Count Karamzin's château by the sea. The Count, in his dressing gown—Stroheim himself—is doing a little target practice before breakfast coffee. Like von Rauffenstein in Renoir's "La Grande Illusion," he is a deadeye shot. Stroheim can make a dressing gown look as much like a military uniform as Noël Coward can make it look like white tie and tails. He is watched by the Ambassador's enthralled wife; the Ambassador is infuriated by her enthrallment. The Count, who is no count but depends on a fake White Russian retinue of a family to keep his end up in Monte Carlo, is eventually found out to the horribly literal extent of his cousins' wigs being removed. Then he is spilled dead down a manhole in the street, like a bag of coal. It is an ending as strange and dreadful as the ending of "Greed," where two friends who have turned into each other's lethal enemy fight in Death Valley, their faces caked with dust, in front of a pack mule that has had to be shot because it was about to gallop off with the water canteen. (The bullet goes right through the canteen.) The surviving man, symbolically, stays locked to the dead loser by a handcuff that the loser clapped

FEDTRO

If it blasts from a Fedtro Powerhouse Megaphone you'll hear it loud and clear. Many models are offered and each is powered by internal battery or batteries. One of the smaller is the Fedtro Meg 1000 which uses four flashlight D cells, weighs 2.7 lbs., and can be heard to about a quarter of a mile. A large model, MEG-5000 has an output of 25 watts and uses 6 C cells; it has a power range of nearly a mile.

J. P. MARINE

Flushing salt and polluted water out of an engine's cooling system at the end of a day's run will prolong its life. For the flush job, Marine Products makes a valve which is permanently installed in the water intake of any inboard engine and is connected to a deck or transom hose fitting. The engine is completely flushed when this fitting is attached to a dockside supply of fresh water.

oil cooler since it can accumulate enough heat to cause the hydraulic fluid to smoke.

The list of parts concluded with a suitable belt for the pump and high-pressure and low-pressure hydraulic lines.

The actual installation is so simple that it can be completed in a couple of hours by anyone handy with an electric drill, wrenches, screwdriver, and pliers.

In mounting the valve assembly, I cut off the end of the valve mounting rod to a length that would fit within the length of the tiller connecting bar, with the valve trigger located midway between the tiller bars. The rod end was bent and shimmed away from the aft side of the tiller connecting bar, so there was enough clearance for the hydraulic fittings and lines. Two 9/32" holes were drilled through the valve mounting rod. The assembly was then positioned on the rear face of the tiller connecting bar and a hole was drilled in the bar. A ⅜" x 2½" bolt was then inserted to hold the assembly while the other hole was drilled through the tiller connecting bar. This procedure assured proper alignment of the holes.

The valve trigger had a tapered shape, and the right angle adapter needed a matching tapered hole to prevent undesirable wobble. The opposite end of the adapter, threaded to match the end of the boat's steering system Bowden rod, was screwed on first and then placed over the tapered trigger and the securing nut tightened.

At this point, the travel was checked. Normally, no adjustment will be necessary if the valve trigger is directly behind the original universal ball joint. If it is necessary, adjust it so that when the wheel is in midship position, the tiller bars are substantially parallel to the keel. This adjustment was made by loosening the clamp around the Bowden cable housing and sliding the housing in the desired direction. Check for equal travel on both sides of dead ahead. Adjustment can also be made by loosening the clamp on the valve mounting shaft and screwing or unscrewing the mounting bar.

In mounting the cylinder, the hole for the old ball joint was enlarged to fit the bolt that came with the mounting end of the cylinder. The "Y" bracket was attached to the piston, using the rubber and steel washers that came with the cylinder.

The tiller bar was set in dead-ahead
